Reds' Satellite Hard to Spot

American Scientists Believe Orbit Selected to Hide It

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) —Russia's epoch-making earth satellite sped 'round and 'round a fascinated world today, sending what may be messages in secret code back to its creators in the Soviet Union.

As it circled the globe every 96.2 minutes, 560 miles out in space, the Western World's scientists knew it was there because they could pick up its radio signals.

But they experienced great difficulty in spotting it visually. Although there were some scattered reports that it had been seen, these were disputed, and there was some feeling that it might never be spotted except by Russians.

The satellite's course around the globe from north to south brings it over the United States seven times every 24 hours as the earth spins beneath it.

Two American scientists said the Soviet-launched sphere was sending back coded messages that they were unable to decipher.

A Cambridge, Mass. astronomer said it was obvious the Russians had chosen to launch the satellite at such an angle to the sun as to prevent visual observations in the free world.

There were a number of reports of sightings from different parts of the United States but officials at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge said the baby moon is not yet visible to observers in this country.

A Japanese scientist said he saw the satellite by telescope as it passed over Niigata, 160 miles north northwest of Toyko. He said it was "barely visible" though much brighter than he had expected.

Cambridge scientists said the satellite can be seen only in the north and south polar regions at present because of its relation to the earth and sun. They said it might become visible in other parts of the world if it changes direction in two or three weeks.

How long it will continue to whirl through the heavens in its north-south orbit was a subject of the greatest speculation. Estimates ranged from a few days to a million years.

A Soviet scientist attending a meeting in Washington said the batteries operating the satellite's automatic radio transmitter would last over two weeks.

May Disclose Data in Files On Little Rock

Holds Information Given to President Before Use of Troop

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 — The White House said today the Justice Department is debating whether to make public information from its files on the school integration crisis at Little Rock, Ark.

The White House said the information was given to President Eisenhower before he decided to use federal troops to help enforce court-ordered integration at Little Rock's Central High School.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined to say whether the information had been gathered by the FBI. He made it clear, however, that the material did not include an FBI report furnished the federal judge who ordered integration at Central High.

There were indications that if the information is made public, it would not come this weekend.

Hagerty disclosed the possibility of publication of the hitherto secret information in commenting on proposals that FBI files on the Little Rock incident be made public immediately.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said last night this would help the American people to have a better and more comprehensive idea of what is behind the Arkansas trouble.

Hagerty emphasized he was not talking about FBI reports which Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies requested to help guide him in ordering Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus to withdraw National Guardsmen from Central High.

The press secretary said, as he did yesterday, it would be inappropriate for that information to be made public here. He added it was up to Judge Davies whether that should be released.

Pyramid of Logs Collapses; Nine Students Hurt

BALDWIN, Kan., Oct. 5—(AP)—A 25-foot high pyramid of logs collapsed under the weight of 45 Baker University fraternity members today. The result was one broken leg, at least two broken noses and six students suffering lesser hurts.

The students were posing for a picture after building the pyramid for their annual "Ramble," a steak fry tonight.

Taken to a hospital in Lawrence were Louis Parkin, Grand Island, Neb., with a broken leg; Bob Sadler, Strong City, Kan. with a broken nose; Gordon Barnhardt of Leavenworth, Kan., with a broken nose and slight concussion and Glen Holt, Abilene, Kan., nose smashed, possibly broken.

A fifth student, Albert Bullock, was released after treatment at Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

Miller said about six others were scratched and cut and others may have suffered shock.

Jarring Note

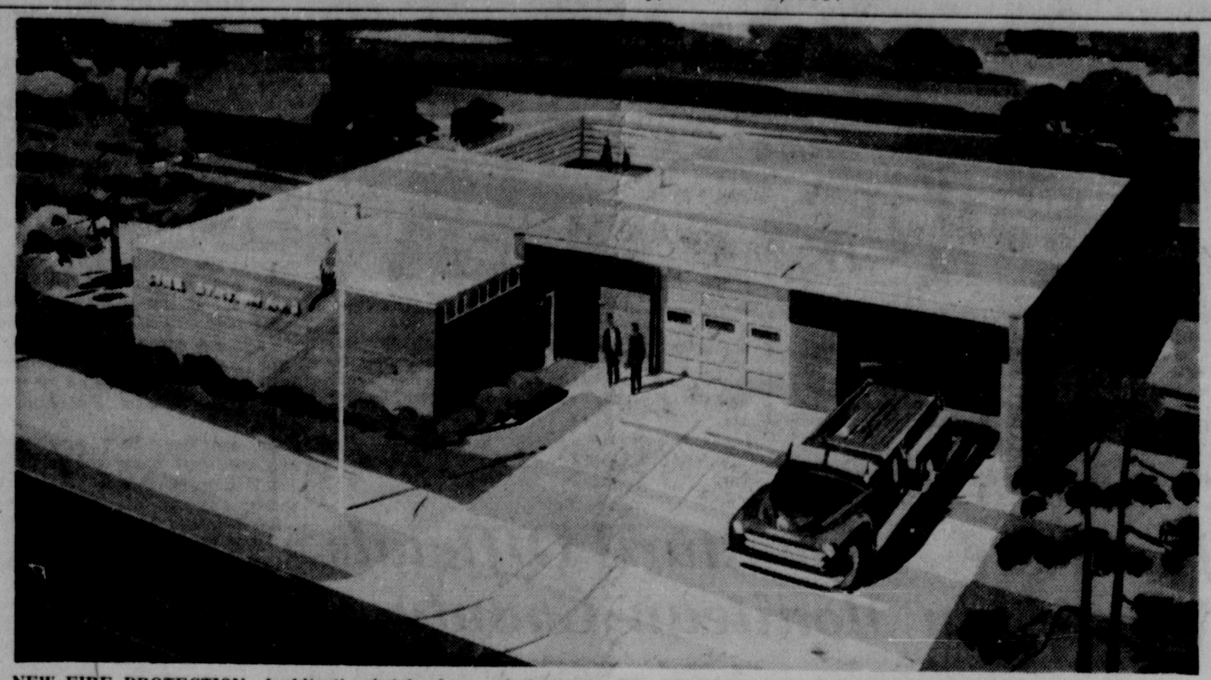

It's hard to believe, with the autumn colors and blue sky surrounding us, that a space satellite is whistling overhead —and that it isn't ours.

Fair east, partly cloudy west Sunday and Monday. Little change in temperatures. High Sunday near 70 northeast to upper 70s southwest.

The temperature Saturday was 45 at 7 a.m. and 75 at 1 p.m. The low Friday night was 44.

The temperature one year ago today, high 80, low 62, with 1.17 inches of rain; two years ago, high 80, low 58; and three years ago, high 63, low 50.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks Saturday 58.2, no change.

NEW FIRE PROTECTION--Architect's sketch of one of the two new fire stations which, together with a new municipal Community Center building, will be submitted to the voters in a special election Nov. 5. The two fire stations will be similar in layout and appearance. Sketch and plans for the Community Center building will be carried by The Democrat-Capital when completed and available.

State GOP District Heads Plan Strategy

Pennsylvanian Says Missouri Party Now Is 'On Right Track'

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5 (AP)—The strife-torn Republican party in Missouri now "is on the right track for a sweeping party achievement," Congressman Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania said today.

Simpson spoke at a gathering of GOP leaders from the 11th District, one of six the party believes can be captured, perhaps next year.

"It is the aim of the Republican Congressional Committee to take full advantage of that prospect," Simpson said.

The party now holds only one of the 11 Missouri congressional seats.

Simpson did not name the hopeful districts but other party leaders said active candidates are being sought in the 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 11th District. Nor is the party overlooking the 9th District of northeastern Missouri where aging Rep. Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, seemingly is entrenched.

At a 4th District session yesterday at Warrensburg, Republicans pledged a bitter campaign next year against Rep. George H. Christopher.

No definite candidates have yet been announced for the key districts, GOP spokesman said. Several party leaders expressed hope that former Rep. Dewey Short of Galena would decide to run next year against Sen. Stuart Symington (D).

Former state Sen. George H. Miller of Sedalia, who lost a close race to Rep. Morgan Moulder (D) of Camdenton last year, was a visitor at today's meeting. He would neither put himself in nor take himself out of the 11th district race.

Besides yesterday's 4th District session, there have been meetings in the 2nd and 6th Districts. Others are scheduled for the next month and a half with the last scheduled in the 10th District at Poplar Bluff Nov. 22.

Angry Crowds Clash With Polish Police In Downtown Warsaw

WARSAW, Oct. 5—(AP)—Angry crowds clashed with riot police in Warsaw's Constitution Square tonight for the third time since Thursday.

Demonstrators hurled rocks and bricks from bombed sites into the ranks of steel-helmeted militia.

The militia tried to disperse them with tear gas and noise bombs.

Noise bomb explosions boomed out over the capital.

Police threw a cordon around the entire riot area.

General Areas for 2 Fire Stations Chosen

General locations for the two proposed fire stations on which Sedalians will vote Nov. 5 have been selected, one in east Sedalia in the vicinity of Crescent Drive, and one in west Sedalia in the vicinity of South Barrett.

These location were jointly agreed upon by Hare & Hare, City Planning Engineers, and the Sedalia Planning and Zoning Commission, according to S. J. Timborious, Commission chairman. The sites conform to the city plan for future growth, and have been approved by the Missouri Inspection Bureau, which sets fire insurance rates.

The new station in east Sedalia is considered to be ideally situated to serve all of east and southeast Sedalia.

The other new fire station will assure adequate fire protection for the new areas of growth in west and southwest Sedalia, which are at a considerable distance from the present Number 2 Station. It is strategically situated with reference to the new industrial park on West Highway 50, for example, which was recently chosen for a plant site by Precision Engineering Co.; to the State Fair Grounds and Southwest Village. This station should also be a factor in making the Katy shop grounds attractive as an industrial site.

Only one pumper will be used at each of the new stations for the present, but when needs require, there will be space for two pumpers, and dormitory and ready room for the crews. According to Chief Lueck, the new stations will bring Sedalia fire protection, covering all residential, commercial and industrial areas, into line with 1957 standards, and will help Sedalia to compare favorably with all other cities of its size in Missouri.

Guest Artist For Concert Is Changed

Arabella Hong, American born coloratura of Chinese parentage, has been secured by the Sedalia Symphony Society to replace Marjorie McClung, soprano, who was scheduled to have been the guest artist on Oct. 14 at the symphony's first concert of the year.

The local symphony officials were notified this week that Miss McClung is to have a serious operation and would be unable to fulfill her engagement. Phil Pryor, Pryor-Mentz Concert Service, advised that his agency was most fortunate to book Miss Hong in the emergency since she is one of the most promising young concert artists in the country today. Pryor added that Miss Hong has been acclaimed all over the country by critics and the patrons of the local symphony are in for a real treat when they hear the young star.

Abe Rosenthal, director of the symphony, has just completed his personnel for the symphony with 41 Sedalians and musicians from Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg and Missouri Valley College, Marshall, comprising the group.

The first concert on Oct. 14 will be held at the Smith-Cotton auditorium starting at 8:15 p.m. Season tickets are now on sale by members of the symphony board, at the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, or at the office of Arthur Morgan, 415 South Lamine. All sponsors and subscribers of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra will receive their season tickets through the mail or in person.

Pettis County Farmers Sign 288 Agreements For Soil Bank Acreage

Since the start of the Soil Bank's 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve signup on Aug. 26, Pettis County farmers have signed 288 winter wheat Acreage Reserve agreements.

Johnson, manager of the county ASC office, said that these agreements covered 5327 acres of Pettis County winter wheat "allotment" land. Last year there were 105 contracts signed in the same period which covered 1668 acres.

County farmers who have signed up, if they comply with their agreements, will receive $172,000.00 in Soil Bank payments on 1958 winter wheat land.

Oct. 4 was the deadline on signups for the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve.

Two-Year-Old Is Hit, Fatally Hurt by Truck

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5—(AP)—A 2-year-old boy who toddled into the street in front of his home here today was struck and fatally injured by a mail truck.

Police said the victim, Jerry Grider Jr., had been playing with a 5-year-old sister in front of the home while his mother was hanging out a wash in the back yard.

The driver of the truck, Donald Coffee, told police he was unaware that he had struck the child until notified of the accident later.

To Hold Second Medical Forum Tuesday Evening

The second in the fall series of Pettis County Medical Forums will be presented Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, at 8 o'clock in the Little Theater at Smith-Cotton High School. The topic of the Forum will be "Arthritis and Rheumatism."

Thomas W. Burns, M.D., associate professor in the department of medicine at the University of Missouri School of Medicine, will be the guest lecturer. These diseases are not, as most people think, strictly diseases of the bones and joints, but rather are systemic diseases that affect the entire body. They are one of a group of diseases referred to as diseases of stress. Much concerning their true nature is yet to be learned; however, it is known that diet and nutrition is an important factor.

Dr. Burns has been active in research concerning metabolism, having done work at Duke University in North Carolina, the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, and with the U. S. Naval Medical Research Unit at Cairo, Egypt. He came to the University of Missouri in 1955 from the University of California Medical Center. He is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine.

The Pettis County Medical Forums are presented in the public interest by the Pettis County Medical Society and all are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

MU Fraternity House Burns; Students Escape

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 5—(AP)—Fire was raging uncontrolled through the upper two stories of the three-story Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house at the University of Missouri tonight.

The blaze was discovered at 8:45 o'clock and all students in the building escaped after throwing out what clothing and books they could rescue.

All Columbia fire-fighting equipment was on the job, surrounding the wooden building on Rollins Avenue on the campus.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Their Clothes Styles Earn Chance at State Contest October 19

Linda Mae Vedder, 16 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vedder, 1106 West Fourth, was winner of the junior division of the district Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Contest held in Sedalia Saturday afternoon, and Linda Stewart, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Stewart, Centerview, won first in the senior division. These two girls will now go to Kansas City where they will compete in the State Contest to be held Oct. 19, at the time of the American Royal.

Carolyn Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, Route 5, was the winner of the sub-deb class which is the 13 to 15 age group. These girls are not eligible for the state contest but this division was created to give the younger girls experience.

Linda Mae Vedder, who is a student at Smith-Cotton High School, modeled her hand made suit of tan and white imported tweed, fashioned with a straight skirt with back kick pleat. Her straight line jacket gathered at the back to a band. The buttonholes were bound. With it Linda Mae wore a small brown felt hat. She had something that no other girl in the entire contest had, too, shoes and purse made of the same fabric as her suit.

Linda Stewart, who is a student at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, had a blue gray flannel suit designed with straight lines, inset pocket at under arm seam line and square covered buttons that buttoned to the neckline. Her straight skirt was darted to fit. Linda won second place in the junior contest in 1955.

Carolyn's skirt was of tan and white imported tweed, styled with slim lines with kick pleat. Her blouse of fine brown jersey terminated at the waist line with gathers. She is also a student at Smith-Cotton.

Competing in the district contest were:

Junior, which are girls from 14 to 18 years of age, Frances Ann Robey, Holden, who was second with a beautiful black and white wool tweed coat; Dana Alice Gordon, Windsor; Patsy Louise Mat-

Dulles Meets With Gromyko

They Discuss Problems Between Americans, Russian

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko conferred here today on major Russian-American problems, reportedly including the tense situation in the Middle East.

Gromyko, who had arrived in Washington in early afternoon, drove up to Dulles' home in an exclusive Washington residential area at 4:02 p.m.

He was accompanied into the conference by Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin and Oleg Troyanovski, an interpreter. Gromyko speaks English, having once served as ambassador here for several years, but apparently prefers to conduct official discussions through an interpreter.

State Department officials said Dulles' aides in the meeting were Burke Elbrick, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Edward L. Freers, director of the Office of Eastern European Affairs.

It was Gromyko's first trip to Washington in almost 10 years.

He said Russia's successful launching of the first man-made earth satellite was a great achievement. He told reporters that he would talk with Dulles about "some of the relations" between the Soviet Union and the United States but he doubted that the satellite would figure very much in the conversation.

Dulles was reported to have told aides he expected that four issues would dominate the talk — the Middle East, disarmament, German reunification and cultural exchanges between this country and Russia.

On the first three of these, Moscow and Washington have been deadlocked for years. With respect to exchanges of delegations of scientists, engineers and the like there has been some progress during the past year or so since both governments desire to break down East-West barriers to some extent in this field.

Although Dulles has met with Soviet leaders many times, State Department officials could recall no exact precedent for today's session. Dulles invited Gromyko to come here from New York for an informal, free-wheeling talk. Gromyko is attending the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

At present Dulles and other American officials are most worried about a heavy flow of Soviet arms into Syria, whose leadership has become increasingly pro-Russian. While there was speculation that Dulles would tell Gromyko that the United States intended to do everything possible to block Soviet trouble - making in the Middle East, there was no expectation that today's conference would result in any changes of policy by Moscow.

Flu Authority Has It

DETROIT, Oct. 4—(AP)—Dr. I. W. McLean of Detroit, an authority on Asian flu, was unable to take part in a symposium on the disease today because he has the flu.

Interstate Commerce Not State Matter

Supreme Court Rule Congress Has Taken Over Labor Powers

TOPEKA, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Kansas Supreme Court today ruled the state has no jurisdiction in labor relations matters affecting interstate commerce.

But it said it is up to the Kansas courts to determine from the evidence whether a business is interstate or intrastate in character.

It said Congress has pre-empted the field on labor relations affecting interstate commerce and completely displaced state powers to deal with such matters.

"It is immaterial," the high court said, "whether the National Labor Relations Board has declined or obviously will decline to exercise jurisdiction."

The decision apparently leaves a "no man's land" in labor disputes since the NRLB has an established policy of not hearing cases involving interstate firms which do a business o fless than $100,000 a year.

The court's rulings came in decisions on three separate cases.

One decision reversed the Reno County District Court which had issued an order enjoining the General Team and Truck Drivers local No. 54, affiliated with the Teamsters Union, from picketing Lee's Terminal, a freight depot operated by Leon V. and Katherine M. Friesen at Hutchinson.

The Supreme Court sent the case back with directions for the Reno County tribunal to dismiss the action.

The lower court had held the picketing "for organizational purposes" constituted a secondary boycott in violation of Kansas law.

In a similar case, the Supreme Court affirmed a decision by the Sedgwick County District Court dismissing a suit by Asphalt Paving Inc., against Teamsters Local 795.

The asphalt firm had sought an injunction to prevent picketing of construction jobs and the Sedgwick County court held it did not have jurisdiction.

In another decision, the high court upheld the Saline County District Court's decision in a suit brought by Leonard Stieben and 18 other employes of the Jarvis Construction Co. against the Constructive and General Laborers Local No. 685 of Salina.

Stieben and the other employes brought the suit to enjoin the union from picketing a construction project at Smoky Hill Air Force Base,

Coliseum Is Prepared

Everything Is Ready For Choral Concert

Jay Lazerson, general chairman of the Optimist Club's presentation of Boys Town Choir, says practically everything is in readiness for the kids from Father Flanagan's Boys Town.

The huge 30 feet by 50 feet stage has been constructed in the south end of the Missouri State Fairgrounds Coliseum, and the 12 feet by 32 feet backdrop will go up over the weekend. Members of the Optimist Club have been working hard and long to make the concerts on Oct. 10 a memorable occasion for Sedalia.

Two crews of Optimists worked Saturday and will work today placing chairs in the arena to accommodate the large crowd expected. Much interest has been indicated from schools in the surrounding area in the free matinee at 3 p.m. for all school students. Bus loads of youngsters from all over central Missouri are expected to be in Sedalia next Thursday afternoon. Sedalia public and parocial schools are dismissing early so that students and faculty may attend.

At the afternoon free matinee there will be a reserved section for visiting teachers, and at the evening concert a erserved section will be set aside for the patrons and friends of the Optimist Club along with the advertisers in the evening's program.

The bus from Boys Town, Nebr., transporting the choir will arrive in Sedalia early Thursday afternoon. Through the Opti-Mrs. Club, an auxilliary club of Optimist members wives, arrangements have been made for all Optimist Club families to take two to four of the young members of the choir into their homes for the choir's stay in Sedalia. They will be given dinner between concert times, then stay with the family for the night, and breakfast with them the next morning before departing for the Home. The arrangement will allow the boys to become acquainted with Sedalia hospitality, and will also permit the Optimist Club to realize a greater profit from the venture. The club will use all the proceeds to further their boys work program in Sedalia.

Lazerson said, "Advance tickets sales are going very nicely; those who have not yet purchased tickets will find it advantageous to do so before box office opening and avoid waiting in line at the coliseum." The box office for the 8:15 evening concert will open at the coliseum at 6:45 p.m. Tickets may be purchased beforehand at the following Sedalia business establishments: Mullins Mens Wear, Flowers, Connor-Wagoners, Bard's Drug, Chamber of Commerce, East End Drug, Main Street Drug, and Hurtt's Pharmacy.

Studying Administration

Members of Cuban Trade Union Will Pay Visit Here Next Week

Sedalia is to be visited by a Cuban Trade Unionist group Sunday evening, Oct. 13 and Monday, Oct. 14, as one of their stops during a visit to the United States studying trade union administration.

There are seven members of the Cuban delegation which is being escorted by Bill Standard, of Sedalia I.B.E.W. Local 844, Missouri Pacific Shops.

Standard is with the U. S. Department of Labor and is acting as escort manager representing the U.S. Department. Two interpreters are also traveling with the group.

The group will arrive in Sedalia Sunday night and will stop at the Bothwell Hotel. Monday they will be met at 10 a.m. by four Sedalia union representatives: Norbert L. Brosch, president of the Sedalia Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO and representing the Sedalia Electrical Workers, Local 124; George Franklin, of the Federated Shop Crafts of the Missouri Pacific; P. Emmett Sullivan, of the Typographical Union in Sedalia; and Francis Rudd, of the Teamsters Union in Sedalia.

The delegation will tour the Missouri Pacific Shops, Town and Country Shoe Co., Lamy Manufacturing Co., Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., possibly two or three other manufacturing and business firms in Sedalia, and the strip coal mines near Clinton and Windsor.

There will be a discussion of trade union administration, with particular emphasis on collective bargaining methods and techniques.

The group is composed of the following members of the Cuban Labor Relations Training Collective Bargaining Team:

Manuel Fraga Balanco, 30, Secretary General of National Union of Aircraft Mechanics. He is employed as a mechanic with the Compania Cubana de Aviacion, S. A. Airlines, and resides at Havana.

Eloy Garcia Alfaro, 25, Secretary General of National Federation of Sugar Workers (FNTA); members Conferation of Cuban Workers (C TC); member Union Workers, and resides at Bahia Honda, P. R. Cuba.

Jose Gonzales Olarabel, 34, vice-treasurer, Union of Medical Workers. He is employed as a cost and statistics clerk, Parke and Davis de Cuba, and resides at Ayestaran, Havana.

Rodolfo Llacer Garcia, 43, first vice-president, National Federation of Insurance Brokers; member Confederation of Cuban Laborers (CTC). He is employed as chief of the Collection Department, La Canera Co. (an insurance company) and resides in Havana.

Julio Lopez Mesa, 30, secretary, Federation of the Shoe Industry; member of Union Laborers and Employes of the U. S. Rubber Co., Havana; member of National Confederation of Cuban Workers (C TC). He is employed as a shoe assembler U. S. Rubber Co., and resides at Havana.

Adriano Morales Esquivel, 41, secretary-general, Union of Employees and Laborers, Mathambre Mines; member of Confederation of Cuban Workers (CTC); in charge of minerals train, Minas de Matahambre. He resides at Pinar del Rio, Cuba.

Tomas Perez Arias, 32, assistant secretary, National Federation of Textile Industry; employed by Textile Retirement Fund as office chief; assistant secretary, Retirement Fund; editor of newspaper "Fibra." He resides at Havana.

Stamps Have Become Form Of International Currency

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Anyone who thinks stamp collecting today is a kid's game is only kidding himself. It's a tremendous business, and a growing field of investment.

"Stamps have become a form of international currency," said Jack Taub, who at 36 is a dealer who does a half-million-dollar volume yearly here and in London.

"There are now 50 million collectors around the world, including 15 million in the United States.

"Stamps have become a tremendous hedge against inflation. That is why many Europeans, who are afraid of their own currency, are investing in stamps. If wisely chosen, they are an even better hedge than diamonds.

"Even during the depression the value of stamps dropped only 15 to 20 per cent."

But as in every other form of investment, those who seek to build a fortune in postage stamps must know what kind to buy—and when to buy them. Right now—surprisingly—United Nations issues are pacing the field in the worldwide stamp collecting boom.

A number of canny investors have already made sizable fortunes from stamps put out by the big glass house on the East River.

"I know of one man, for example," said Taub, "who invested $200 in U. N. stamps and two years later sold them for $55,000."

The reason for the explosive rise in value of the early issues of U. N. stamps lies in their rarity—and a deepening interest in the United Nations itself.

"The U. N. printed six million of its first stamp in 1951," recalled Taub, "and there was so little interest in them that U. N. officials burned them by the hundreds of thousands.

"In subsequent printings of further U. N. stamps the number was lowered and lowered. Then, sometime after the Korean truce, collectors awoke to the fact that perhaps the U. N. was here to stay. Then the big scramble began.

"Now four to five million people are collecting U. N. stamps, and many of the scarcer issues have skyrocketed. A souvenir 15-cent sheet of stamps issued Oct. 24, 1955, today is worth $20—and they'll be worth more."

So much interest was stirred in the U. N. stamps that dealers set up the U. N. Philatelic Information Committee, with Taub as chairman, to serve as a world-wide clearing house for these issues.

But Taub warned that after Oct. 24, 1956, the U.N. began printing its stamps by the millions again, and the later issues are in plentiful supply and unlikely to increase greatly in value.

"The value of stamps is governed strictly by the law of supply and demand," he pointed out. "And not all are good investments, by any means.

"The United States prints 140 million of its commemorative issues. Many people buy 10 sheets of every U.S. stamp and put them away. So many do this that even 10 years later they aren't worth even their face value to collectors.

"The Post Office won't take them back, so all you can do with them is to put them on letters. And who writes that many letters?"

On the other hand, Taub said, a portfolio of carefully chosen stamps will increase in value faster than a cross-section of industrial stocks or bonds.

Then why don't brokers save stamps?

"They do," said Taub, cheerfully. "So do bankers. They may do it for a hobby—but they are people who like even a hobby to show a profit."

Hughesville Boy Transferred to WAFB

Airman 2/c James R. Trout, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Trout, Van Nuys, Calif., has recently reported to Whiteman Air Force Base.

Airman Trout attended Hughesville High School, where he played baseball for the high school team as a shortstop. He enlisted in the Air Force Jan. 5, 1955.

Study Balanced Farming

Japanese Agriculture Officials Visitors in Moniteau County

Moniteau County was host recently to 12 agriculture extension supervisors and agents from Iran and two agriculture administration directors from Japan, Joe Kerman and Tom Vaziri of the United States State Department served as interpreters for the group.

Mr. S. R. Boswell of Washington and Coy McNabb of the Missouri College of Agriculture were technical leaders.

The group was in Moniteau County to study the balanced farming program. The agents met in the Agriculture Extension Office in California, Mo., during the morning to hear farm and home planning explained.

John B. Terwilliger, associate county agent, explained how farm and home visits were set up with farm families interested in developing a farm and home plan. The use of soil tests, water management, crop rotations, pasture balance, production summary, cash receipts and cash expenses in helping families make sound decisions were discussed. It was pointed out that these items are estimated for the revised farm and home plan proposed for the farms. The plans have goals set down by the farm family that may take from five to fifteen years to accomplish.

Mrs. Viola M. Smith, county home agent, told the group of the assistance available to balanced farming families in home remodeling, food, clothing and home furnishing planning. Mrs. Smith showed slides of the Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wallenmeyer families.

The before and after was shown of the Howard home. The new basement, utility room, mud room, kitchen and everyday living room were a part of the remodeling plan. Colored slides of the Wallenmeyer family remodeling project showed how the front entrance to their home was changed, bathroom built in the hallway, closets added for storage, new kitchen, utility room and a business farm center for Mr. Wallenmeyer.

Mrs. Smith told the visitors that help in planning these remodeling projects in detail was popular with the farm families in Moniteau County.

Afternoon hosts for the visiting Agriculture Extension Agents were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Barnhart of Barnett. The Barnharts started their balanced farming plan in 1951. Last year they purchased an extra 80 acres of land, built a new pole barn and machine shed. The needed land and improvements were made possible with a loan from the Farmers and Home Administration. The soil fertility of the original 130 acres had been limed and rock phosphated according to soil tests before the buildings were built. This was done with the hopes of making the repayment of the loan easier by receiving higher production from the land.

Colored slides were shown of the old barn, old house and the fields before they were terraced. The Barnharts are now building a new home that should be finished by Nov. 1. The visiting agents marveled at the improvements made by the Barnhart family since 1951 and they understood why a farm family needs from five to 15 years to reach their goals in balanced farming plans.

Actor Takes Unusual Role On New Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actor least likely to play the crusader for victims of false imprisonment is Lyle Bettger.

Yet he's doing it on NBC's new show, "Court of Last Resort," every Friday night. Bettger plays the investigator for the group of citizens who review cases of prisoners who claim they are innocent of the crimes they were sentenced for.

The paradox is that Bettger is an expert in portraying mean cusses on the screen. You'll remember him as the sadistic animal trainer in "The Greatest Show on Earth" and the outlaw leader in "Gunfight at OK Corral." Of his 18 movies, only one showed him as a nice guy—"The Carnival Story."

So how did he get the TV series?

"It was a matter of chance," he related. "Two years ago, I did a half-hour film for the Reader's Digest series about a successful businessman who goes off his rocker from overwork. It was a very tense role, but at the beginning and end I was interviewing a woman whose husband had also blown his top. Then I told my own story.

"Well, the producers of 'The Court of Last Resort' were looking for a director and saw my Digest film as an example of the work of Peter Godfrey. They liked the way I interviewed the wife, and I got this role. Undoubtedly, they never would have thought of me for it if they had seen any of my movies."

Foot Injury To C. Siefkas Filling Silo

By Mrs. York Finley

MARSHALL JUNCTION—Claude Siefkas recently suffered a severe foot injury while he was helping fill a silo on the Walter Schanz farm. Siefkas, who was operating a field cutter, stopped to clean off the sickle and, although the power was turned off, his foot caught in a belt resulting in the loss of his big toe and the tips of two adjoining toes. He was rushed to Fitzgibbon Hospital, Marshall, for surgery and treatment. Luckily, three men, Eugene Nichols, Earl Stonner, and Harold Burns were in the field with Mr. Siefkas when the accident occurred and quickly came to his rescue. Billy Siefkas came home from Columbia for the weekend because of his father's injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Alexander who sold their home and shop to Junior Cornine moved to Sweet Springs.

Bob Stanfield has sold his place to Virgil Saylor.

Lester Sigman sold his farm to Harry Hanley.

Sunday guests in the Younger-Finley home were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holder, and Jill, Nelson, Rev. and Mrs. Charles McKay, Clifton Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stockdale, of Blue Springs, spent Sunday in the Wesley Tooker home.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Thomas, Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Packard, Independence, visited the Dick Thomas family Tuesday evening. Mr. Packard showed moving pictures taken on his trip through Montana and Washington and into Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Thomas, Marshall, had supper Sunday with the Dick Thomases and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, Marshall, were afternoon guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wright and son, Marshall, had dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pointer and sons. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gadberry of Marshall.

Robert Stanfield who had worked for the International Shoe Co. in Sweet Springs for a number of years has been transferred to the company's plant at Windsor.

Mrs. Martha Thompson had as callers Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Early Simms, Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wingfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Walker and Joy went to Fayette Thursday night where they visited Mrs. James Renison who underwent surgery at the Lee Hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Walker and Joy visited Mrs. Jake Thomas and family near Shackelford Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Clifford Davis and sons, Kansas City, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goodson, Saturday.

Mrs. Mabyl Belwood and children had as guests Sunday afternoon Mrs. Milton Wells and Mrs. Harold Steele of Blackwater.

The annual program on State Missions was held by the New Salem Baptist WMU last Wednesday evening at the church. Participating on the program were Mrs. Raymond Holder, Mrs. Bill Davis, Mrs. H. H. Pointer, Mrs. Jerome Younger, and Mrs. York Finley.

PTA Holds Meeting In New Building

The Versailles PTA held their September meeting at the new high school building with a large attendance.

Supt. Earl Whiteaker introduced the principals and teachers of the elementary and high schools.

Paul Hilty gave the invocation and devotional. Mrs. Jim F. Hughes conducted the meeting and Mrs. Ulen Forrest, chairman of the Cub Scout committee, introduced the acting Scoutmaster, Dr. Otho Washburn, who presented the Cub Scout Troop.

The grade school room mothers and the hospitality committee with Mrs. Jack Clark, chairman, served refreshments.

Miss Hayes Speaks to Sorosis On 'Art of Living' Monday

Miss Ann Hayes, director of women's activities for KCMO radio and TV, spoke to Sorosis members Monday afternoon at Heard Memorial Club House on "The Art of Living."

So live, said Miss Hayes, to get the most out of life mentally, spiritually and physically. Life that is too easy, she pointed out, can be dangerous and it would be well to watch for the danger signs. Strength is gained by tackling everything with zest.

Reach out with a definite goal, the speaker told the group, no matter what age in life. People must feel something within them and vibrate toward it or they will become useless.

Sometimes, Miss Hayes said, homemakers feel bored. All jobs, she explained are difficult, but seek the kingdom of happiness and all will be given to you. Apply religion to daily living, she advised.

She told the story of an old Jewish woman who had married a Christian and now was on welfare in a Jewish district. A friend took her to visit this woman when she was in New York, Miss Hayes said, and the woman told her that her family had nothing to do with her. They never did anything for her. But while Miss Hayes was there a nephew came to get her signature on a paper and she gave him a short remark for coming when he wanted something.

After he left she turned to Miss Hayes and said: "I did the wrong thing didn't I?" Miss Hayes told her she did and asked if she knew about static on the radio. She said yes, it was the something that kept you from getting a program clearly. "What is your static between you and God?" she asked, and the woman replied, "My temper."

"That is right," said Miss Hayes. "There can be no clear communication between you and God as long as you cause static."

Miss Hayes said that 75 per cent of the adults have an inferiority complex of some kind. When children start life they have inferiority complexes because they cannot do things and are laughed at when they attempt them but they also are self-centered and feel important because all of the attention of the family is centered on them. This eventually balances them, but the majority of the people are self-conscious. Recognizing this, some try bluffing and posing, but the way to overtome it, the speaker said, is to develop strong points. Find out what you can do successfully. There is never a place for a snob, she pointed out.

She urged building individuality. Relax with good music or laughing. Anger, jealousy, envy all hurt your digestion, she said. What we do for others we are doing for ourselves. When we cheat in thoughts and deeds, we cheat ourselves. Extend your mental horizons. Everything good, she said, comes from God — have vision and faith. If you cannot paint large pictures on the canvas of life, paint small ones. Desire, she said, is the key to success. All people must have something in which they are interested or they will become bankrupt in thought. Recharge your "battery", breathe, relax, say a prayer, depend upon yourself, Miss Hayes advised.

She spoke of today's crime. Most of the young delinquents come from broken homes or from parents who are too busy to enjoy their children. Children should be taught to respect their parents, and parents should take time to give their children guidance.

Miss Hayes was introduced by Mrs. Joseph Maunders, art and drama chairman.

The meeting was preceded by the luncheon honoring the new members, at which Miss Hayes was a special guest. Attending the luncheon were the new members and their sponsors.

This is one of the largest groups, if not the largest, ever taken into Sorosis. The new members introduced were: Mrs. C. F. Curtis, Mrs. J. L. Curry, Mrs. Berry Elliott, Mrs. Ernest DeMuth, Mrs. Oscar DeWolf, Mrs. Robert Enochs, Mrs. Clayton Haire, Mrs. Doras Herndon, Mrs. James Mickey, Mrs. Clinton Muller, Mrs. M. H. O'Connor, Mrs. Russell Peck, Mrs. Jean F. Schumacher, Mrs. Abe Silverman, Mrs. V. P. Scotten, Mrs. Robert Stewart, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Harold Tomlin, Mrs. Leon Whitney and Mrs. Kenneth Weinrich.

The tables were attractively arranged with centerpieces of pompons in rose shade on either side of which were ivy vines, and white paper lace mats at each place.

Mrs. Harold Dean, president, presided at the luncheon as well as at the meeting that followed.

Mrs. T. H. Yount gave the invocation.

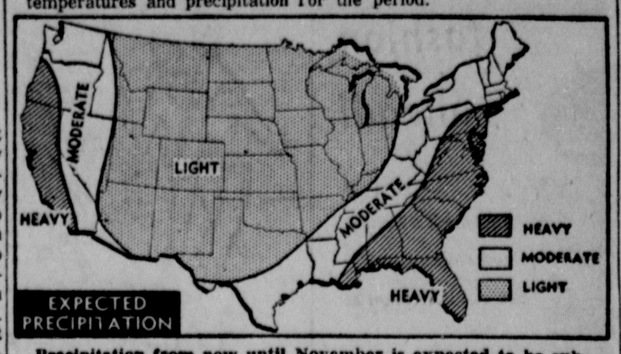

During the luncheon Mrs. Dean introduced to all the new members the club officers, Members of the board, department committee chairmen, and chairmen of the various committees.

The luncheon was arranged by the social committee composed of Mrs. William P. Hurley, chairman, Mrs. Leon Archias, Mrs. Richard Dean, Mrs. A. K. Downs, Mrs. P. J. Hedderich, Mrs. William Hurlbut, Mrs. C. E. Messerly and Mrs. Thomas M. Wilson.

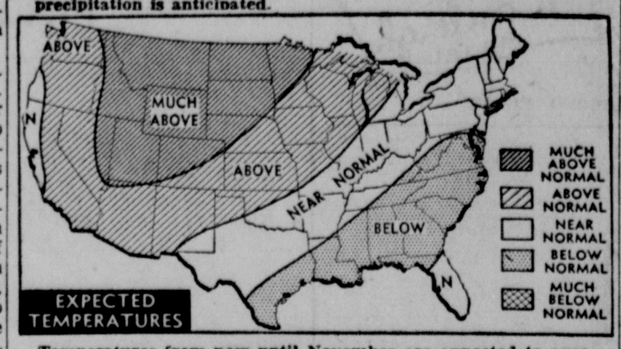

Mrs. Leo Eickhoff, chairman of the current topics department, announced that the speaker next week will be John M. Dalton, Jefferson City, attorney general of Missouri, who will take for his subject: "Missouriana." There will be a luncheon in his honor, reservations to be in by Friday noon.

October Outlook

The weather maps below give the U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecasts from now until November. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of the average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

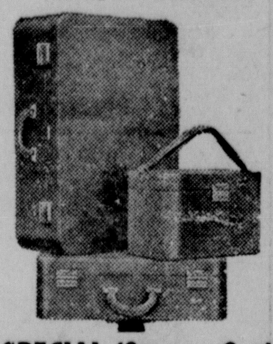

Precipitation from now until November is expected to be sub-normal over much of the country lying between the Mississippi River and the Rockies, but above-normal amounts are indicated east of the Appalachians and along the central and southern portions of the West Coast. In unspecified areas, about-normal precipitation is anticipated.

Temperatures from now until November are expected to average above-seasonal normals over the western half of the nation and also in the western Great Lakes region and upper Mississippi Valley. Below-normal temperatures are expected to prevail in the Middle and South Atlantic States and along the Gulf Coast. In other areas about-normal October temperatures are predicted.

Colorado U. to Give Its Mascot to Zoo

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The University of Colorado is saying goodby to Mr. Chips.

Mr. Chips is a 600-pound buffalo calf, donated to the school whose student teams are known as "Buffaloes," by a 1932 alumnus, William M. White of Pueblo.

That was last spring. Mr. Chips was boarded at a nearby ranch. He took part in several campus functions.

But leaders of the Associated Students decided their mascot was getting "too big and too unruly." They agreed, sadly, to offer him to a zoo.

No Air Used in U.S. Space Balloon

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — A balloon without air will be one of the American moons whirling through space.

Lack of air will prevent it from acting like a jet rocket and going off course if it gets punctured by a meteorite.

Blow up an ordinary balloon, let go of it suddenly by its neck, and you get the idea. Air escaping through the open neck exerts equal pressure on the inside and the balloon goes skittering across the room. That's the jet principle.

This can't happen to our space balloon because there won't be any gas pressure inside it which can rush out after a shooting star punctures it. It won't go pop either.

Details of this hollow balloon moon were described today to a special conference of the International Geophysical Year by William J. O'Sullivan Jr. of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

The balloon will be made of ultrathin plastic film and aluminum foil. Compactly folded, it will be fitted into the top of a moon-launching rocket.

Some 300 miles above the earth, the rocket releases a metal moon for studies of magnetism. It also pushes out the folded balloon and trips a little tank to inflate it with compressed nitrogen gas.

For a while, the balloon may follow closely the heavier but smaller metal moon. Then drag or resistance from even the very thin air in space will slow it down.

Careful observations of how much and how quickly it slows down and spirals to earth will give invaluable clues to the density of air 300 to 1,500 miles out in space.

LUNCHEON WITH GODFREY—Harold Silberstein (standing, center) of 1411 South Kentucky, listens attentively as radio and televiison star Arthur Godfrey tells a story during an informal luncheon at the Home Office of Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha in Omaha, Nebr.

Silberstein, local representative of David Eisenstein Agency for Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha, and his wife were among a group of the companies' outstanding salesmen and managers invited to Omaha to attend the Arthur Godfrey radio and television broadcast which originated from the home office auditorium of the companies Tuesday morning.

After the broadcast, Mr. and Mrs. Silberstein attended the luncheon with the Godfrey cast. During their stay in Omaha, they also were guests at the Godfrey Talent Scout Show at the city auditorium and attended the famous Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo at which Godfrey and his horse Goldie were a star attraction.

Alfalfa Needs High Level Of Fertility

By C. M. Christy
MU Extension Soils Specialist

Of all the farm crops grown, alfalfa rates at the top in its requirement of a good mineral fertility level of the soil. Lime is one of the basic minerals. Alfalfa may survive awhile even when some deficiency exists but yields are reduced sharply and the length of life is shortened.

Lime provides the soil with calcium and if dolomitic limestone is used magnesium also is provided. At the same time lime makes a better environment in the soil for bacterial action. The ability of the plant to use atmospheric nitrogen is directly related to the lime situation.

A calcium deficiency results in stunted growth, pale green color, and white spots throughout the leaves. Weeds and grasses soon show up in spots where alfalfa is disappearing as a result of a lime deficiency.

Alfalfa is a heavy user of lime. It takes one-fourth of a ton of high quality limestone to replace that used by an annual harvest of four tons. Outstanding fields may yield five to seven tons per acre per year. Therefore the lime situation of the soil must be particularly good when preparing to establish alfalfa.

You will find it easier to establish and maintain a successful alfalfa stand when the lime situation of the soil is good. Of course, other essential mineral nutrients must be adequate. Plowing minerals down deeply will definitely help in preparing for alfalfa.

Soil tests provide the best guide for lime and other soil treatments. Well taken soil samples and information about the field should be taken to the county extension office for tessting and interpretation of needs. Samples should represent the surface seven inches. It is also desirable to test samples reprsenting the seven to 14 inch depth. Minral fertility including lime, phosphate and potash to correct the deficiencies of both the surface seven inches as well as all or part of the second seven inches is desirable.

The most satisfactory time to take care of the soil's need for lime is when plowing and preparing to establish a field for alfalfa.

Some of the most productive stands of alfalfa are in fields that have had at least two or more applications of limestone. A better distribution of the lime then exists. Plowing deeply helps provide a better zone for root development as well as providing better distribution.

Legumes such as alfalfa fail to produce satisfactorily when a lime deficiency exists. There is a general lack of vigorousness and weedy, grassy spots begin to develop. Yields decline as deficiencies develop.

A visit with your county agent about the use and value of limestone will be worthwhile when planning to use legumes such as alfalfa in your farming operations.

Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Shrout To Bunceton

By Miss Emma Lee Kurtz

BUNCETON — Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Shrout have returned home after spending the summer in Vermont.

Miss Margaret Foster, Kansas City, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Foster Jr. and daughters. They visited their brother, Charles Foster, patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Boonville. Charles was seriously injured in a dynamite explosion at Hall and Riley quarries several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Custer of Kansas City were overnight guests Monday at Mrs. William Salzman and family.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lindy Norris and family had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cronenbow and children and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hawkins and family, Lee's Summit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchison and family, St. Charles, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hutchison.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hein and Ronald spent Sunday afternoon at the Lake of the Ozarks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Floyd, Kansas City, were weekend guests of Mrs. William Floyd.

Mrs. J. W. Walker returned home Saturday from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hurt and Mrs. Louise Amos, Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cully and Michael Joe are spending three weeks in McComb, Ill., where Wayne is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, Bunceton; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Raines, Hughesville, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Walje Jr. and Mark and Mrs. Dora Walje, Nebo Community.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Gander visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gander, Boonville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Creson, Fayette, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harris and family, Turney, visited Mrs. Frank Harris and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Gander Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schlotzhauer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Day, Boonville; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schlotzhauer, Pilot Grove, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Day and son, Bunceton.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brubaker were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Grove, Otterville. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Cook, Mrs. H. E. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Page.

The music recital presented by the pupils of Mrs. Wilbur McFarland, Boonville, at the Baptist Church, was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brokamp and son of Clarksfork, visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hein and Howard Saturday night.

Eight cities in the U.S. annually handle more than a million air passengers each. They are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington, D. C., San Francisco, Miami, Detroit and Atlanta.

Mrs. Baker Installed As Class President

Mrs. Richard Baker was installed as president of Dorcas Sunday School Class of Otterville Baptist Church at the recent meeting. Others installed were Mrs. Edith Gochenour, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Coffman, second vice president; Mrs. Eugene Diefendorf, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Lawrence Bottom, reporter.

Mrs. Gochenour was hostess and also gave the devotional. Birthday gifts will be sent to the children at the Baptist Home in Pattonsville this year.

Try to Reduce Cost by Fewer Poultry Meets

By Glenn Geiger
MU Extension Poultry Specialist

It seems that most folks these days are trying their best to do their particular job as efficiently as possible and yet keep costs down to a minimum. The extension workers of the Missouri College of Agriculture are no exception. This is what was in mind when 12 district poultry meetings were scheduled in Missouri for this October.

In the past, Extension poultrymen have helped individual counties plan and conduct Poultry Days for poultrymen in their county. This meant planning and presenting a large number of smaller meetings. This planning takes time and work. Many of these county meetings were poorly attended in recent years although some have been very successful.

This year the 12 district meetings will replace the 50 or more county meetings held each year in the past. The meetings this year will be all-day affairs, open to all poultry industry folks. Speakers from the Missouri College of Agriculture Extension Service will appear with local producers and business men on the program to discuss both the production and marketing of poultry products. A panel discussion will deal with creating a better understanding of industry problems. The hatcheryman, producer, produce man, feed dealer, and retailer will be represented on the panel by local men and women. They'll present some of their individual problems and discuss how they can be better understood.

The Missouri State Department of Agriculture will be represented at all of these meetings by Glenn Pearl, Director of State Egg Inspection. John Sam Williamson, the State Commissioner of Agriculture will attend at least four of the meetings. They will briefly discuss the state poultry industry and the Missouri Egg Law.

The two meetings nearest to the Sedalia area are on Oct. 11 at Jefferson City and Oct. 14 at Warrensburg.

The Douglas world air cruiser "New Orleans," was recently placed in the U.S. Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio. It was one of the historic four which made the round-the-world flight in 1924.

Took 23 Women to Soviet Union

Bea Johnson Tells of Interviewing Top Russian Leaders and People of Nation

Bea Johnson, director of women's activities for the KMBC-KFRM-KMBC-TV, and the first woman to step over the threshold of the top men of the Kremlin, is as good for the people of her own country as she was for Russia as she tells her story of Russia and its people, big and little.

Attractive and vivacious, Mrs. Johnson held her audience spellbound as she talked on her experience Wednesday night at the public affairs banquet of the Business and Professional Women's Club held at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria.

Bea Johnson was real and you could feel the emotions of this woman who was born in Warrensburg, married the Slater boy with whom she had her first date, who had come to Sedalia often and loved it, wanted to live in a big city like Sedalia and who finally started in radio in Kansas City as Joanne Taylor and has continued upward until she has the top woman's program, and fame, Bea is a typical midwesterner and down-to-earth, and more—she is very feminine. It was her desire for peace that made this mother of two daughters dare to take other mothers in her field and the field of writing to Russia, because actually she was afraid of what she was doing.

It was in Geneva, Switzerland, at a Big Four conference where she had taken a group of women, that she looked up and saw a big Russian who sat down beside her.

"I was afraid of him," said Bea, "and then I realized that he was afraid of me, too."

And so they sat, side by side, each afraid of the other. After a while the Russian spoke to her about something and they began to talk and later other Russians came and they asked her why she did not bring a group of women like this to Russia. She told them she would like to and asked when such a trip could be arranged, and she was told any time except on May Day. There were so many Russians in Moscow on May Day that there was not room for others.

Well, of course, Bea decided that the very day she wanted most to be in Russia had to be May Day; she wanted to find out why they didn't want foreigners there on that day. She found that was the day when the Russian peasants came to Moscow with their feet wrapped in carpeting, drab and worn clothes and scarves over their heads. They didn't want the rest of the world to see these people.

WINNING ESSAYIST—Miss Erma Fajen, career advancement chairman of the Business and Pro-Fessional Women's Club, is shown presenting a check to Carolyn Jean Saenz, 15,, junior in Sacred Heart High School, for her winning essay on "Why I Want a Business or Profesisonal Career." The presentation was made at the annual public affairs banquet Wednesday night, Oct. 2, at Smith-Cotton Cafeteria. At the left is the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Bea Johnson, director ow women's activities of KMBC-KFM, KMBC-TV, who was the first woman to interview Russian leaders.

It took Bea Johnson two years to get what she wanted. She wrote again and again to the ambassador from Russia in Washington, but received no answer; then she tried writing Russia and no answer, she told them these women were mothers, they did not want war but peace, and at last she was recognized when she had gone to the top. They received the 23 visas for they 23 women and then she began trying to get through by telephone to the head of Intourists, which is not a tourist agency but is a powerful government agency. Bea or her secretary stayed on the line constantly for four days, she said, and on the fourth day got through.

"All your wishes will be granted," said the head man of Intourist when she asked for 23 interviews, and he repeated it again and again when se asked for interviews with the men at the top in Russia, including Marshal Zhukov and Bulganin, and even asked for recordings of the interviews.

They set off for Russia, stopping first in Holland where they were given a big welcome and leis each made of 240 red and yellow tulips. Then they went to Poland and from there were taken on an ill-fated plane which a short time later went down in a storm with all on it killed. This time there was a storm, too, and Bea and her group thought that was going to happen to them. They were too scared and many of them too sick to care. The plane rocked in the storm and the baggage came down upon them. With the shattered tulips there was quite a mess, she said.

Mrs. Johnson said she had been surprised and a little scared when a man from India and a Russian got on the plane because she though their group was to be alone. The Russian sat across from her but when she tried to get him to move so her photographer could sit there, he told her he did not speak English. A little later a streak of lightning came in and seemed to go right across the Russian's eyebrows. He closed his eyes and sat very still. Bea was so frightened, she said, she hardly knew what to do, but she thought he might be dead and she asked: "Are you all right?"

"Yes," said the Russian, "I think so, I'm all right" and it was five minutes before she realized this man couldn't speak English. She was more scared than ever. The women on the plane were praying or trying to sing.

When the plane landed there were photographers everywhere, newspaper reporters, TV and radio and even movie cameras. Bea thought the Russian must be a very important person, but he didn't get off the plane and she kept worrying why they were wasting their bulbs on her. Then came flowers and a warm welcome. The reddest red carpet was given them as the first women to step on Soviet soil.

The May Day parade, she said, was tremendous, each industry marching and carrying flags. There were tanks and military might, too, she said, and thousands of people in the four hour and 20 minute parade but no spectators. The applause was great, so the papers said, but she was in radio and she know how the sound of applause was made.

She felt that Marshal Zhukov was very sincere in his answer to every question he was asked, Bea said. He said he did not want war and she didn't believe he did.

Bulganin, who sometimes looked like a cherub and sometimes like a devil, she felt she could not believe. She felt this way about most of the Russians she interviewed, she said, but she liked them all.

Bulganin is a great propagandist, she told her audience, smooth, polished, interesting and he said the American women would be afraid to go home and tell what they saw in Russia. He said their government was only 40 years old, the American government was over 100 years and ahead in military might—but give us 40 more years, he told her, and we will surpass you.

Mrs. Johnson said, "I do not believe we will have a war. I do not believe the Russians, the leaders or the youth, want a war. The Communists want to build.

"But," she pointed out, "I am not saying there will not be war because a trigger could start one."

She went on to say they have a wonderful machine of propaganda—and we would be smart to build one like it. They do it in a beautiful way.

"We have slums to clean," she said, "and should not make laws we cannot enforce. This gives them good propaganda, puts another seed in the Kremlin. There is so much we can do in America—but we have one weapon they do not have—prayer. We should pray that the nice, everyday people of Russia will some day know freedom."

Pictures taken there were shown by her husband, Dean Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson was introduced by Miss Opal O'Briant, public affairs chairman.

Miss Doris Stott, president, conducted the meeting, and invocation was by Mrs. Eldon DeMott.

The presentation of the essay contest award on "Why I Would Choose a Business or Professional Career" was presented to Carolyn Jean Saenz, 15, a junior in Sacred Heart High School, by Miss Erma Fajen, career advancement chairman.

Special music was by John Vandekamp and Al Domingue, who sang "Autumn Leaves," "Who Needs You," "The Rosary" and "Hot Diggity," with Mrs. Lillian Fox at the piano.

Dinner music was by Danny Padgornik and his accordion.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the national anthem directed by Mrs. Eugenia Hayworth.

Special guests were Miss Alberta Meyer, past president of the Jefferson City BPWC; Miss Louise Jewett, state legislation chairman from Boonville; Miss Inez Mudd, past District 4 director, Eldon; and representatives from clubs from Boonville, Slater, Eldon, Waynesville, Warrensburg and Jefferson City.

Other guests introduced were: Jack Faber, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Faber; Claude L. Boul, president of the Optimist Club, and Mrs. Boul; W. C. Corlew, president of the Pettis County Farm Bureau; Mrs. W. C. Corlew, president of Ringen Neighbors Extension Club; Mrs. E. F. Yancey, president of the Helen G. Steele Music Club; Mrs. L. H. Rodges, regent, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. John Snodgrass, president of the American Association of University Women; Mrs. Fred Brink, president of Sedalia Garden Club No. 4; Mrs. Hubert Smith, president of the Women's Immanuel United Church of Christ; Mrs. John Linville, president of Striped College; and members of the press, radio and television.

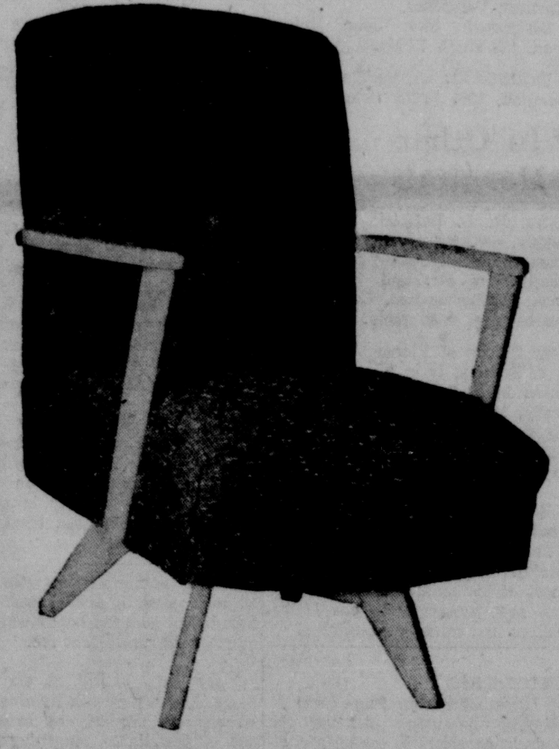

Seated at the speaker's table also were Mrs. John Welch, new service chairman, Mrs. Emory Bowman, public relations chairman, and Mrs. Kurman Riley, secretary.

The tables were decorated in keeping with the autumn seasons, yellow and orange candles in hedgeball holders, autumn leaves and persimmons. On the speaker's table was an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums, and a large BPWC emblem in gold and black.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk On Soil Bank

A talk on "The Soil Bank," was given by Carl E. Johnson, office manager of the Pettis County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Office, at the meeting of the Sedalia Kiwanis Club in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by John M. Sneed, program chairman. Johnson spoke about conservation reserve and acreage reserve and pointed out that there were 300 contracts involving 6,000 acres for the wheat bank in Pettis County in 1958.

Announcement was made that the club's agriculture committee headed by Sneed, is proceeding with plans for a dinner meeting with farm people at the Hughesville Consolidated School Thursday evening, Oct. 17. The dinner will be prepared by the PTA women, after which there will be a regular program. The Kiwanis Club will also have a round table meeting at noon the same day in Bothwell Hotel.

The club gave a congratulatory ovation to L. A. Pharris upon his election as district lieutenant governor at the Mo-Ark convention in Kansas City. Representing the local club at the convention were: Pharris, Sylvan Woolery, Jack Crawford and Pinkney Miller.

John Snodgrass, A. H. Wilks, John Ryan and the Rev. Walter Niles attended a meeting of the Rolla club Tuesday noon and delivered to that club the traveling owl which had been in possession of the Sedalia club as a part of an inter-club relations stimulator.

Jack Shoemaker, past president, presided Thursday in the absence of President Mike Giokaris. Invocation was by the Rev. Arthur Schmidt. Charles Lieberman, Joplin, former Sedalian, was a guest of Shoemaker.

In the sub-ded division were: Paula Jean Jobe, Olean, who won second with a skirt; Judith Lyn Johnson, Peculiar; Mary Jane Shroder, Holden; Linda Fay Brauer, Syracuse, and Sherry Ann Houston, Olean.

The girls all received a number of nice gifts from the Chamber of Commerce and merchants of Sedalia.

Mrs. Frank Van Dyke, Smithton, was director of the district contest.

Mrs. Louise McKee, Sedalia, was narator and Mrs. Earl Gregory was at the piano.

Judges were Miss Charlene Lindsey of the state office, Columbia; Miss Grace Livingston, Warrensburg; Mrs. Mona Terrell, Marshall, and Mrs. Richard Gray, Sedalia. The judging was done during the morning and at the fashion show in the afternoon by the point system.

At noon, the American Business Women Association entertained the girls at a luncheon at the First Methodist Church. This is a special civic project of the ABWA each year of which Mrs. Mary Maddox, who also assisted with the contest during the day, was chairman. Mrs. Evelyn Rabourn is president of ABWA.

The tables were attractive with centerpieces of fall flowers and drift wood. Mothers and friends of the girls and a number of ABWA members also attended the banquet.

• Other Fires

The machine shed of Arthur Kennit, 2½ miles west of Tipton on Highway 50, burned at 2:45 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5, and was destroyed. The blazing building was first discovered by Mrs. Helen Kuttenkuler, aunt of Mr. Kennit, and Melvin Henry, who was passing along the road. The Tipton Rural Fire Department was alerted but they were unable to save the building because the fire was too well advanced. Cause of the fire is unknown.

The estimated damage amounted to $5,000. Equipment worth $2,000 was destroyed and the building itself was estimated at $3,000. The building was made of corrogated iron with the sides and roof all metal. The floor was of concrete. The building was one year old.

Mrs. Kennit was in the house and apparently had not been aware of the fire. The shed was a short distance from the house. Their children were in the house taking a nap. Mr. Kennit was in town.

Among the machinery destroyed was a new International four-row cultivator and a new electric welder.

• Police Reports

Mrs. John Sole, 912 South Quincy, reported to the police that shortly before 1 p.m. Friday a man in a light green car ran a stop sign at Main and Missouri and caused her to jam on her brakes, throwing her two-and-a-half year old son, John Russell, out of the seat. He struck his mouth on the dashboard, causing the loosening of a front tooth and scrape on the back of his head and right cheek.

The restroom doors to the Texaco Service Station on East Broadway were found open at 11:45 p.m. Friday. They were closed by the officers.

W. S. Williams, Route 2, Sedalia, reported to the police that sometime after midnight Saturday morning while his car was parked on the parking lot at Pittsburgh-Corning glass factory, a tire, wheel, and hubcap were stolen from his 1955 Chevrolet.

Back door to the Hamm's Beer storage building on Main street was found open at 3:30 a. m. Saturday. The manager was notified. Nothing was believed to be missing.

Meet Has Halloween Motif

Mrs. Louise McKee Speaks To ABW on Religious Camp

Mrs. Louise McKee was the speaker at the dinner meeting Tuesday evening of the American Business Women's Association at the Bothwell Hotel, taking for her subject: "Glorietta Camp."

The name "Glorietta" in Spanish, Mrs. McKee explained, means 'place of glory" or "little heaven" and the camp is well-named, because it is beautifully situated on 1800 acres of ground near Santa Fe, N. Mex. Glorietta Camp, she said, is a religious training camp the aim of which is to teach and promote Christian leadership so people may better serve the community in which they live.

The young people, said Mrs. McKee, under a well-trained faculty, are taught many things worthwhile. There are conferences on Sunday School training, foreign missions, home missions, music, leadership training and recreation.

Winding roads, beautiful flowers, and rock gardens form the setting for the camp which has residence halls, cottages, lodges and 40 camp shelters and space for 50 families in tents where two to three thousand people are accommodated a week. Classes are spiritual and educational for church workers and young people.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Evelyn Rabourn, president, and invocation was given by Miss Nellie White.

Music for the evening was by Charles Robinson, who sang two solos, "Deep River" and "You're the Song in My Heart", with Donna Nave as accompanist.

Two new members were welcomed, Miss Ruth Wolfrum and Miss Betty Chanceller.

Mrs. Velma Curtis was a guest of Mrs. Fern Hill.

The ways and means committee reported the rummage sale a success. The "Make-It-Yourself-With Wool" contest luncheon which is sponsored each year by the ABWA was discussed.

A report was given on the ABWA meeting held in Jefferson City on Thursday, Oct. 3, which was attended by eight members of the Sedalia Chapter. The speaker was Miss Pauline Adams who talked on "My Trip to Europe."

The meeting closed with benediction by Miss Emma Kraft.

Tables were attractively decorated in the Halloween motif with hedgeball candle holders and Jack O'lanterns.

Perry Reeds Honored At Surprise Party

A surprise party was given for Mr. and Mrs. Perry C. Reed, who observed their golden wedding anniversary Oct. 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKeehan of LaMonte. Guests were members of the Happy Homemakers Club and their husbands.

Mrs. McKeehan wrote a love story using magazine titles depicting their lives from their courtship to the present date revealing the date of their 50th anniversary, which they thought was a secret. The story was read by Mr. Reed. Mrs. McKeehan presented Mrs. Reed with a yellow rose corsage and Mr. Reed with a boutonniere.

The highlight of the evening was a mock wedding. Mrs. George Workman played the wedding march and members of the wedding party were: Mrs. Anna Reed, bride; Perry C. Reed, groom; Mrs. McKeehan, flower girl; Mrs. Eva Brooks, matron of honor; J. F. McKeehan, best man and J. H. Brooks, the minister. Wedding vows were repeated in a double (harness ring) ceremony and to make it more binding the bride and groom were handcuffed by Mr. Brooks.

A reception followed. The four tier cake was topped with the number 50 and it centered the table. Gold mums, gold wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom were used as table decorations.

Emmett Brown and Ross Watts were also honored as having birthdays. Refreshments were served to 28 guests.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hudson, Miss Edna Buffon, LaMonte, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brooks, Sedalia.

John Bohon Takes Part in Maneuvers

Marine Pfc. John E. Bohon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Bohon, 901 South Missouri, took part in an artillery field exercise Sept. 17-30 on the Mojave Desert at Twentynine Palms, Calif.

The blistering 13-day grind involved 2,000 of the 1st Marine Division's 11th Regiment Marines.

The exercise reached its climax when the regiment unleashed its 105mm and 155mm howitzers, plus 4.2 mortars, in live-fire support of imaginary units attacking the "enemy".

The United States bought Alaska from Russia on March 30, 1867.

The early fiction written by John Galsworthy was published under the pseudonym of John Sinjohn.

Lutherans Will Dedicate New Building Sunday

The Lutheran Church of Sweet Springs will dedicate its newly completed educational building Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The dedication will begin with a service in the church, after which the congregation will proceed to the doors of the educational building for the formal opening.

Immediately after the formal opening of the doors there will be open house, giving everyone an opportunity to inspect the building. Light refreshments will be served by the ladies of the congregation.

The speaker for the dedication service will be the Rev. O. E. Heilman of Concordia. The upper Sunday school departments and Bible classes will have a special song in the service, while the beginner and primary departments will sing a song at the formal opening of the doors. The public is invited to take part in this dedication.

Building operations were begun last November, but due to the cold weather, nothing could be done until the latter part of February. The Cornerstone Laying ceremony was held on March 10.

The architect was Robert Boller of Kansas City. The general contractor was the firm of Cramer and Shrader of Sedalia. The building committee was: H. L. Fischer, Raymond Wallhausen, and E. J. Eckhoff. The building fund committee was: Ledru Kothe, Harold Vogelsmeier, and Earl McClanahan.

Firm Representative Close at Hand to Give Prize for Contest

The letter to Dave C. Stratton, 807 West Seventh, said, "Arrangements for delivery of your prize will be made by a local representative who will be in contact with you shortly."

It was closer to reality than could have been foreseen. At the time he received the letter, Stratton was in a hospital bed after a heart attack, and the representative was also in a hospital bed in the same room after receiving a back injury.

So Friday evening Art Richards, 1020 South New York, representative of Kraft Foods, reached across the space between their beds and handed Stratton his prize certificates worth $10 which were won in a recent Kraft contest. They will permit Stratton, once he can leave the hospital, to enjoy meals totaling that amount at any local restaurant.

Ministerial Alliance Will Meet on Monday

The Sedalia Ministerial Alliance will meet at 8 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church for a worship service that will be concluded at 8:45. It will then conduct its regular monthly breakfast meeting at the Bothwell Hotel from 9:15 to 10:15.

Reservists to Meet

The 9716th Air Reserve Squadron will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the courthouse. All reservists are urged to attend. Lt. George Goodier will be in charge of the meeting.

Jim Rice

New Recognition Of High School Students Begins

Jim Rice, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Briggs Rice, 624 West Fifth, has been named "Student of the Month" at Smith-Cotton. Jim is the first to be recognized in a new program sponsored by the PTA to give recognition to an outstanding student each month.

A secret committee will name a student each month and at the end of the school year each of the nine students will receive a certificate from the president of the Smith-Cotton PTA, Mrs. Nathalia Poyntr.

The students will be chosen on four factors. The four points that will be considered are:

1. Willingness to serve school regardless of time or place.
2. Willingness to help others without thought of recognition.
3. Ability to get along with others.
4. Courtesy.

Jim is a senior in Smith-Cotton and is noted for his courtesy and obedience of school rules. He is a member of the L. Club, National Forensic League and Archies Staff.

The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Herb Studer, citizenship chairman of the PTA.

Ken Larsen to Speak At Rotary Club Meet

Ken Larsen, sales representative of the Lincoln Engineering Co., St. Louis, will be the speaker at Rotary Club Monday noon at Bothwell Hotel. He will talk on "The Pan American Road Races" and will also have a film to illustrate his talk.

John Brown, Jr., is program chairman.

In Cole's Tavern, Pungoteague, Va., the first play in America was presented in 1665.

Most Teenagers Think Teachers Dull, Lacking In Enthusiasm

By EUGENE GILBERT

"Gladly would he learn and gladly teach . . ."

Chaucer's famous description of the dedicated clerk of Oxford might well serve as a model for what teen-aged Americans expect in a good teacher.

In a nationwide survey of what high school students think of education at their level, we learned that most boys and girls — about 77 per cent — are satisfied with what they are required to learn but have plenty of gripes about how subjects are being taught.

Many teachers, they complain, lack enthusiasm for their subject matter, present it in a dull and uninteresting fashion and fail to keep pace with latest developments in their field.

In short, they neither gladly learn nor gladly teach.

Open season, for a limited time, was declared on teachers with this question: "Do you think teachers present their subjects satisfactorily?"

Most boys and girls had no hesitancy about taking aim and blazing away. Quite a few, however, took the precaution of withholding their names to prevent possible pedagogical reprisals.

One of the braver respondents, 16-year-old Frances Dougherty of South Natick, Mass., delivered this blast against the teaching ranks: "I think they themselves should show more interest in their subjects and should handle a class better."

Her complaint was echoed by many others, who preferred to remain anonymous.

"Present the subject more clearly and in better detail," suggested a 15-year-old girl.

"Most just lecture and do not make subjects interesting," added another of the same age.

"Explain better and be stricter in regards to knowing matter," said a 16-year-old girl from West Springfield, Mass.

"Have teachers instead of just lecturers," prescribed a New Hampshire lad.

Gary Olsen, an 18-year-old senior from Titusville, Pa., thought teachers should "show more enthusiasm in presenting" their subjects.

Another Pennsylvania lad analyzed his high school faculty and found "some are effective and others superficial."

On the question of subject matter, nearly eight out of 10 boys and girls felt that the subjects they learned in school would be useful in later life, either directly or by reason of having improved their minds.

Three out of four, however, asked that more practical subjects like typing, home economics and shop training be included in an arts curriculum and one out of nine railed against learning mathematics, Latin and foreign languages.

Criticism came easy but, surprisingly, so too did constructive suggestions for improving the caliber of instruction. Teen-agers offered a variety of ideas for making good teachers, better teachers.

Here are some representative answers:

"Bring subjects up to date, relate them to recent events."

"Turn away from the obvious."

"Be a little more pleasant."

"Don't use marks as a weapon."

"Provoke more thought."

"More class discussions."

"Teach the teachers to understand teen-agers."

"Bring subjects more down to earth."

"Teach more, talk less."

"Encourage not discourage."

These 10 quotes, we think, are worthy of inclusion in a teacher's manual. They not only show solid thinking on the part of young students but also demonstrate a degree of interest in teachers and teaching methods that might not be expected from so young a group.

Some of the answers, of course, were far from representative although not lacking in interest.

Several students expressed a desire for "younger teachers," but one came up with a quick remedy: "Mandatory retirement at the age of 40."

A number of boys and girls complained about not being able to hear and understand what the teacher was saying. Teachers should "talk more clearly," said 19-year-old Sandra Swisher of San Marino, Calif.

A 16-year-old boy from Brooklyn, a city not noted for perfect diction, had this to say to his teachers: "Stop mumbling!"

There were the usual complaints about teachers being too strict, giving too much homework, too many tests or being, as one girl put it, "chronic low markers," but there also were a number of complaints in the opposite direction. Some teachers were criticized for being too lax in discipline and not giving enough homework and tests.

The survey answers showed that teachers would have an impossible time trying to please everyone. Some boys and girls wanted the instruction to proceed more slowly, others clamored to be "sent through a subject faster." Some complained that often the teacher was "teaching over our heads," while others wanted them to "go deeper into a subject." There were those who wanted more discussions and those who wanted less discussions and more demonstrations. As one boy put it, "I didn't come here to listen to the guy next to me yap off all day. I want to learn something."

How do you go about judging a good teacher? Again, the answers were revealing and at times touching.

"By his sincerity, ability and knowledge," said 17-year-old Don Furtando of Chapel Hill, N. C.

"By his confidence, grading, preparation and appearance," said an 18-year-old girl.

"By his attitude towards slow children," said a Brooklyn lad.

"By how much I learn from her, how good a disciplinarian she is and how friendly she is," commented an 18-year-old girl senior.

In judging a good teacher, teen-agers considered personal appearance, tactfulness, attitude toward students in and out of the classroom, enthusiasm for their subject, ability to speak clearly and concisely, discipline control, general knowledge of their field, all around knowledge of other subjects and by, as a 12-year-old freshman from Delhi, N. Y., put it, "the methods used and results achieved."

Personality and a sense of humor popped up as prerequisites in quite a few of the answers. Very few rated teachers by how much homework they gave, but one boy managed to compromise ideals with practicality. He said he judged a good teacher "by the way they understand you and how much homework they give."

Sometimes, as the survey showed, inability to communicate was clearly the fault of the student and not the teacher. Witness this answer from a 15-year-old boy who was asked whether his school courses were useful. "I think they would be useful," he replied, "if they could be used."

Women's Federation Has All Day Meeting

The Church Womens Federation of Bunceton met all day Thursday in the church basement. The Methodist ladies were hostesses. Fifteen members attended.

Mrs. D. T. Layne gave the devotional and Mrs. F. E. Filler conducted the business meeting. The purchasing of a historian's book was discussed.

Program, charity, Christmas Box and carolling committees were appointed. A memorial was given in honor of Mrs. Fred Shrout and Mrs. C. T. Nelson.

Homemakers Win Blue Ribbon

Mrs. I. A. Barnes was hostess to the Tebo Homemakers Extension Club for their September meeting with 25 members, seven children and one visitor, Mrs. Elwood Patrick, present.

Roll call was answered by "One method I use in keeping current events". Mrs. Clyde Hayhurst thanked the club for the plant sent her while in the hospital. A committee was appointed to fix the booth on "Home Management and Table Arrangement" for Achievement Day, Oct. 17 at Masonic Temple, Clinton. The club received a blue ribbon on their booth at Calhoun Colt Show. The work was supervised by Mrs. Homer Bowers and all contributed materials. Project for the year is the making of dresses for children of Mercy Hospital. A wiener roast will be held Oct. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bowers.

A new club song, "O What a Beautiful Morning" was sung and the lesson, "Truth about Indians" was given by Mrs. Harry Redford.

Serving People Together

Sunday is the sixth day of National Newspaper Week. Specifically, it is "Religion and the Press Day".

In a very real sense the press and the pulpit are partners. It may seem at times that the two are far apart, but in the deeper sense they are not.

You have heard it said that churches and newspapers rise and fall together. In every land bent under a tyrants' yoke, two things stand out: (1) a controlled press and (2) an intimidated church. You may put it down for a truism that there cannot long be a free church in a nation which has a slave press. By the same token, a free press will not endure alongside an imprisoned church.

The two thus are dependent on each other and complementary to each other. The press maintains freedom of the mind and the church preserves freedom of the spirit. Both are necessary. Take one away and the other is sorely distressed.

Perhaps it is significant that the first Aricle of the Bill of Rights recognizes this church-press partnership by providing specifically that Congress shall make nc law (1) respecting the establishment of religion and (2) abridging freedom of press or speech. A third prohibition forbids any apridgement of the right to assemble peacefully together. It is significant that the founders of our country placed these two guarantees of press freedom and religious freedom together back to back.

As newspapers of this nation observe their "week" and dedicate themselves to the cherished task of keeping the people informed, they salute the churches of the land for their transcendent responsibility of keeping people faithful to their religious beliefs.

No faithful nation served by an informed press is likely to ever fall prey to false doctrine or false god.

Ben-Gurion Invites Arabs to Talk Peace

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson resumes writing his column from Washington on Monday.)

By DREW PEARSON

TEL AVIV — In order to see what could be done to bridge the valley of hate between the Arabs and Israel, I went to see the Prime Minister of Israel, David Ben-Gurion. I found him at the Hotel Sharon where he was spending a few days bathing in the Mediterranean.

Mrs. Ben-Gurion, who was raised in Brooklyn and whom everyone in Israel calls by her first name, "Paula," met me in the hotel corridor.

"You want to see the old man?" she said, and escorted me into his room. It was the same hotel room I had occupied last year. The Prime Minister, now 71, did not look old. He had been doing Yoga exercises on the beach and at that moment was reading a thick volume of Greek philosophy as part of his vacation relaxation.

Ben-Gurion was interested in the fact that I had been to Syria and peppered me with questions.

Fear Of Israel

The interview was deadly serious. Reporting on my trip through the Arab states, I told Ben-Gurion that every Arab leader I met raised the refugee problem, and everyone also expressed genuine fear of the Israeli Army. They seemed to feel the Israeli Army was endowed with either divine or satanic strength.

"Are you sure it is fear?" Ben-Gurion replied. "I think it is also the desire to destroy Israel. They use the excuse of fear to nurture the desire to destroy us.

"If they are afraid, then why don't they sit down with us and negotiate a nonaggression pact?" he continued. "Let us have a treaty of friendship and peace. We are ready at any time."

I told Ben-Gurion that while extremist Arabs would never rest until Israel was destroyed, I had met more moderate Arabs who knew Israel was here to stay. They felt that if he made the gesture of letting the refugees come back, only a handful would come.

"Our whole problem," he said, "is migration. We are working to take care of people from all over the world, and I am afraid we shall have to take care of many more.

"There are 3,000,000 Jews in Russia and if Russia opens her doors to let them depart, I have reason to believe that one-half of them would want to come out. What we will do with them I do not know, but we shall manage. We have managed in the past and we shall manage again.

"If Israel ever ceases taking in immigrants, then our reason for being ceases. People migrate to the United States to better themselves. They migrate here because they want to live in Israel.

"We could become self-supporing in a few years if we cut off immigration. But if we cut off the people who want to come here we lose our reason for being."

It was plain from Ben-Gurion's answer that Israel would be too crowded to handle Arab refugees.

Peace for Israel

We talked at great length of the problems of the Near East, much of it off the record. As I was about to leave, I asked:

"What is Israel's greatest achievement during the past year?"

"The Sinai campaign and immigration," Ben-Gurion replied. "We have won new security and freedom from attack, and we have taken in new immigrants from Europe and Egypt. We have housed them, settled them on the land. We are pushing ahead in the Negev (he referred to the Southern desert which is being irrigated). We are bringing our ships to Elath. We are laying a pipeline across the desert.

"These things we have done. They have not been easy, but we have done them."

"Last year when I was here," I reminded Ben-Gurion, "I predicted war between Israel and Egypt with France and England coming in and Russia and the United States staying out. What would you advise me to predice this time?"

"Peace," replied the Prime Minister without hesitation, " — As far as Israel is concerned."

I would agree with that prediction — as far as Israel is concerned. But Israel alone does not control the peace of the Near East. And, judging from the temper of the Arab states, especially Syria, I fear that Ben-Gurion may be a modern-day Moses.

Like the prophet who led the people of Israel back within sight of the promised land but never enjoyed the privilege of getting there himself, Ben-Gurion has settled the people of Israel on a new, revitalized promised land, but may not live to see peace in the land which he has settled.

Guest Editorial

LITTLETON (Colo.) INDEPENDENT. Freedom Comes Second. We listened to a philosopher the other day.

He said we are putting too much emphasis on freedom. To him, the most important thing is fraternity. Christians use the word brotherhood.

Freedom, of course, is still desirable, but we must acknowledge that our society is semi-free. And it must remain so.

About fifteen years ago, we were using two terms—free competition and private enterprise. Then the National Association of Manufacturers picked out the word from each of these expressions and gave us "free enterprise." The members of N.A.M. spent millions in advertising free enterprise, and they have just about succeeded in making the American people think that free enterprise and democracy are synonymous. They are not.

Years ago, we had more economic freedom than we do now. Anyone could start a bank—even if it was doomed to failure. Secret rebates were given by railroads and insiders by the thousands got free passes, leaving the public to make up the difference. A giant oil company used to erect a filling station next door to small competitors and cut prices until the competitor went of business. Enterprising pharmaceutical houses sold harmful nostrums with false claims. Fruit covered with arsenic (applied for insects) was marketed. Life insurance companies preyed on the public.

Grandpa—or your history book—could tell you about the good old days of free enterprise. Now, we have only as much freedom as can be used without stepping on the next fellow's toes. There are regulatory bodies to watch for your interest in communications, transportation, public health, aviation utility rates, automobile traffic, and scores of other fields.

All of the regulatory agencies are cutting in on someone's freedom. Yet, which of these agencies would you suggest giving up?

The only area in which it is not necessary to place a curb is the freedom of expression and religion.

It is clear, then, that we live in a semi-free society. Our philosopher friend is probably right in his emphasis on fraternity. For the Brotherhood of Man crosses racial, religious, and national lines. It is the highest concept that man has ever held, and if we remember rightly it was Jesus who first shook the world with such an idealistic notion.

They Must Serve

The first obligation of the newspaper is to print the news.

The second is to guide public opinion by interpretation.

The third is to furnish wholesome entertainment for readers.

The fourth is to be of service to the community.

The fifth obligation is a very important function financially — to merchandise goods or services through its advertisements.

To those critics who take a cynical attitude to a newspaper's activities to obtain advertising, we would remind them that there is nothing more silent than a closed newspaper.

Newspapers like to feel that they are performing a special public service. When they are good newspapers, they undoubtedly are. But so do all honest useful business perform a public service—even a special public service. They who build homes certainly do so. The growers and distributors of food obviously are essential in our scheme of things. So are the merchants, the bankers, the doctors, the lawyers, the laborers, the craftsmen—a long, long list of occupations.

Newspaper people should not feel that they alone are striving to perform a special public service. All sincere workmen are trying to do that.

Thought For Today

I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all:—I Cor. 14:18.

Our whole life should speak forth our thankfulness; every condition and place we are in should be a witness of our thankfulness. This will make the times and places we live in better for us.—R. Libbes.

The Year at Fall

When the webs that catch the Sunlight
Seem suspended in the air
As if spun threads of silver bright
Float idly in the air;
When the sky is blue and hazy
And the sun is golden warm,
When you're not tired—merely lazy—
When the wasps begin to swarm;
Butterflies and bugs get weaker when
They try to fly or crawl,
You know it's gettin' closer then
To the season known as Fall:
When the web the golden spider weaves
Hangs broken like fine fringe,
And quickly do the maple leaves
Put on a reddish tinge;
When drab brown touches flowers and weeds
And nuts drop from the trees,
And milkweed silk with little seeds
Go whirling with the breeze;
When the world puts on a big parade
Of every gypsy hue,
We're very easy to persuade
That we are gypsy, too,
We want to go — we care not where —
Just anywhere at all,
Out in the fresh and glorious air
Of gaily painted Fall

American Indian Suffers Poorest Health in Nation

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Public Health Service is supplying medical arms to the Indians in a desperate attempt to drive off mass attacks of disease which have been sweeping over the reservations for years.

Until their health arsenals are sufficiently stocked with the white man's medicine, Indians will remain a generation behind the rest of the nation's population in the race to control disease.

Sixty-five out of every 1,000 Indian babies will die before their first birthday. Children under five years of age will make up one-third of all Indian deaths. And those who survive childhood will die at the average age of 39.

These PHS casualty statistics add up to the fact that the American Indians are suffering from the poorest health of any racial group in the United States, despite their outdoor life in the great open spaces.

They indicate the tremendous task faced by the PHS Division of Indian Health since it took over the problem from the Department of Interior in 1955. Eligible for government medical aid are about 335,000 Indians in the U. S., and several thousand more Alaskan natives.

Doctors have to take only one look at an Indian village to learn what is causing the high death and disease rates.

Thousands of Indians barely exist on some of the most desolate, barren land in the nation. Many live in crude one room hovels made out of dirt, logs and rocks which sometimes house as many as four people.

Water is often too scarce to permit proper cleanliness. And contaminated water is used for drinking and cooking. In addition, a lack of education which prevents causes of disease, leaves them wide open for attack.

These conditions help explain why illnesses which no longer pose a major threat to other people kill many Indians each year. Tuberculosis causes five times the number of deaths among Indians that it does in the general population. Three times as many Indians die from pneumonia and influenza. And death rates from intestinal diseases are 10 times higher than those suffered by other people.

The high fatality rate doesn't mean the Bureau of Indian Affairs didn't make any improvements when it was fighting the health problem. The number of deaths used to be much higher.

In 1940, 240 out of every 100,000 Indians died of tuberculosis. By 1954 deaths had dropped to about 49 per 100,000. In 1953 the death rate from pneumonia and influenza had dropped from 161 per 100,000 to 108 since 1943.

When the Division of Indian Health took control of the problem, it immediately started to increase the number of hospitals above the 56 used to care for Indians and Alaskan natives.

Work is under way on a new 200 bed hospital in Gallup, N. M. Three others are being built to replace older ones. And architects are designing plans for a dozen new health centers to handle out-patient care.

Efforts have also been made to place Indians in more non-federal hospitals. So far the government has contracts with about 160 local hospitals in the U. S. and Alaska.

Since PHS started its work the number of personnel involved in Indian health has increased from 3,574 to 4,404.

Doctors are already starting to win a victory in the fight against tuberculosis. One physician reports that for the first time hospitals have more beds ready for tuberculosis cases than they have patients to fill them.

But this is just a start in the difficult job of actual medical treatment and teaching Indians disease prevention. To complete the job, PHS says more doctors, hospitals and money are needed.

When the program gets into full swing within five to ten years, PHS estimates about 70 million dollars a year will be required to operat it properly.

The little girl had been saving her pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and an occasional half dollar in her piggy bank for quite a little while and it was on Friday, Sept. 13, that she decided it was time to open her bank and count her money.

She did and found that the change from the piggy added up to exactly $13.13.—H. L.

The parents of a small boy had been trying to get him used to the idea of having his tonsils out, and as the time drew nearer the mother was telling him that the doctor was going to take his tonsils out in a few days.

He considered a few minutes. It didn't mean much except he was about to lose part of his body which he thought he should have.

"Well, Mommie," he qestioned, "when is he going to put them back in?"—H. L.

"Mommie, did you stay home with me when I was little?" a small boy asked his mother who is employed.

"Yes, I did," she said.

"Mommie," said the little boy, "I want a baby sister."

He thought if his mother had stayed home with him when he was a baby she would have to stay home with a baby sister, too.

—H. L.

"Mommie," said the baby, "I want a bubble bath."

"Not tonight, honey," said mommie as she sank down in an easy chair in the living room, "Mommie is too tired."

A few minutes later the baby, who had toddled on into the bedroom came back in the living room dressed only in his birthday suit.

"Mommie," he said smiling up at his mother, "I'm already for my bubble bath."

Mommie laughed. She forgot she was tired and took him in the bathroom where she gave him a bubble bath. After all, hadn't he been a big help by taking his clothes off?.—H. L.

Three States Lagging

Unemployment Insurance Benefits Are Increasing

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — All but three states have increased the amount of unemployment insurance since 1954, reports Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

The three are Louisiana, West Virginia, and New Mexico.

Said Mitchell, "As changes in state laws became effective the average weekly benefit has increased from $24.45 in fiscal 1954 to $25.08 in 1955, to $26.33 in 1956, and to $27.53, an all time high, in fiscal 1957.

Currently 43 million workers have such protection when they lose their jobs.

New laws effective the first of September make the maximum of $33 a week for 26 weeks in Missouri relatively high. Other states maximum benefits range from $25 to $45 a week. Missouri minimum benefits are $8 a week for 12½ weeks. To qualify, the applicant must have earned in the previous 12 months the total of 1½ times wages earned in his highest quarter and $200 in one quarter year. Also he must have been employed by a firm or company hiring 4 workers for 20 weeks in the previous year.

To encourage part time work, the State allows $4 a week to be earned without decreasing benefits.

While unemployment benefits "put more dollars into the pocketbooks of unemployed workers at the time they need it most," Mitchell states, "the average weekly benefit check covers only one-third of average weekly wages" and much more progress is needed. During fiscal 1957 an average of 1,117,600 unemployed workers drew benefits each week and 5,012,900 received one or more payments during the year.

Research Group Speeds Up Study Of Pancreas Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Probably most parents are not familiar with a disease usually known as cystic fibrosis of the pancreas. This is believed to be an inborn or hereditary disorder which occurs about once in 600 births. It is estimated that 7,000 children are born with this disease each year in the United States alone.

It is a peculiar disorder. The most common symptoms are a chronic cough, abnormal intestinal functioning and excessive sweating, especially around the head.

The disease is diagnosed not only from the symptoms but also by special tests including analysis of the sweat. Although there is no absolute cure for the disease at present, treatment with the antibiotics and by other means is important, particularly if given early.

Study of this disease has been accelerated by the formation of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation (2300 Westmoreland Street, Philadelphia, Pa.)

A common problem brought to me by parents is the treatment for undescended testicles. This is a difficult subject to discuss, since there has been some differences of opinion among those who have studied the question on what could be done and at what age.

In general the question is whether to try to give a boy with undescended testicles hormone stimulation or to bring them down by surgery. Probably today the majority opinion is that it is best to try hormone injections first and, if this does not succeed, to use an operation.

One recent article on this subject suggested that it is best to defer hormone stimulation until the age of eight. The writer also stated that neither this form of treatment nor operation should be delayed to the age of puberty, that is around 12 or so. Others favor treatment considerably earlier.

Another kind of a probem has come from Mrs. F., who writes that her seven-year-old daughter has trouble with excessive dark looking hair on her arms and legs which she thinks is getting more noticeable as the little girl gets older. This is usually important from the standpoint of appearance rather than health, though occasionally there are hormonal difficulties which account for such excessive growth of hair.

If Mrs. F. is sure that her daughter does not have any hormonal difficulty the question is whether to ignore the excessive hair, bleach it or remove it by wax, by a special kind of rub or by shaving.

The area is too large to justify the use of the electric needle as a rule and X-rays can be dangerous. In making this decision it would be well for the mother to get advice from a skin specialist.

Ruth Millett Says

Nobody Wins Arguments Between Men and Women

It's a mistake for a woman ever to argue with a man. There are a lot of sound reasons behind that conclusion as all truly feminine women eventually will agree.

A woman is never less feminine than when she is attempting to prove a man wrong. What woman would rather be right than be feminine?

The man's ego can't be overlooked. When a woman tells a man he is wrong and can prove it, she is putting him in a position where he has to defend his stand even if he is convinced she is right. How can he happily admit that a woman has bested him in an argument?

If a woman does occasionally win a man's grudging, "Okay, maybe you're right," she drives a wedge between their mutual admiration for each other. For a while at least, he thinks she is bossy and opinionated, and she thinks he is a stubborn mule. This doesn't help their relationship.

There is always the chance that the man is right and wins the argument hands down. Then he isn't going to let her forget how wrong she was. The fact that she doubted his wisdom in the first place makes it necessary for him to rub in his triumph just a little.

So nobody wins when a man and woman argue. Wise women learn this young and prove the points they want to make without damaging a man's self-esteem.

It's one of the reasons men say they can't understand women.

What they really mean is they can't understand women who know how to get their way or put across a point without resorting to an argument.

200,000 Possible Asian Flu Cases Are Reported in City

NEW YORK (AP)—The city has more than 200,000 cases of suspected Asian flu.

Two upper respiratory ailment deaths have been reported, but the exact flu type has not been determined.

Hospital clinics were jammed yesterday, and school attendance still was down about 20 per cent. Teacher absenteeism was an abnormal 7 per cent.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said the situation here is "potentially serious, but as of today it is not serious."

Fifteen of the 28 municipal hospitals treated 5,729 cases Wednesday, or 28 per cent more than the day before. Hospital figures for yesterday have not yet been compiled.

Swat at Fly Brings $10 Fine for Assault

DETROIT (AP) — Harold Chandler had to pay $10 for assault and battery because he took a swat at a fly.

The trouble was that Chandler, 31, was in a restaurant at the time and he didn't hit the fly at all. His swat neearly unseated Frieda Mooney, 25, who was sitting on an adjoining stool.

Miss Mooney's escort Fred Boone, 35, wasn't impressed by Chandler's story of the fly. A scuffle resulted.

Chandler was fined by Recorder's Judge Elvin L. Davenport.

Yanks Wallop Braves To Take Lead

Kubek Slams Two Homers; 11 Walks By Brave Hurlers

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 5—(AP)—Tony Kubek, a 20-year-old Milwaukee boy, ruined his home town's first World Series game today with two home runs in a sobering 12-3 New York Yankee victory over the Braves.

The rangy crewcut, who played five positions for the Yanks in his rookie year but hit only three homers in 127 games, drove in four runs with his two blasts into the right-field bleachers.

Mickey Mantle also deepened the gloom with his ninth series homer, a 400-foot drive into the bullpen after Kubek singled in the fourth inning.

Six Milwaukee pitchers, starting with Bob Buhl, eased the Yanks' way with 11 walks as New York took a 2-1 series lead by romping to this lopsided triumph in the third game of the best-of-seven competition.

It had been a cold, gray afternoon and the lights were burning through the heavy gloom when the 45,804 wandered out of County Stadium after the 3-hour, 18-minute marathon.

Henry Aaron whose two-run homer rekindled hopes in the fifth by making the score 7-3, left eight Braves on base. The National League homer and runs-batted-in champ failed with three on in the second and sixth and two on in the first.

Bob Turley was almost as ineffective as Buhl in this heralded duel of bullet-throwing righthanders. He walked four and allowed three hits before Casey Stengel brought in Don Larsen in the second.

Larsen pitched as though he were still throwing that perfect game of 1956. He blew down the first seven Braves he faced, running his two-year series string to 34 consecutive batters, before Johnny Logan hit a two-strike single to center in the fifth. Aaron then came along with his homer, but that was all.

The big fellow, whom his Yankee mates call Gooney Bird, wobbled briefly in the sixth when two singles and a walk loaded the bases but Jerry Lumpe threw out Aaron on a close play to snuff out the threat.

A total of 20 walks by the six Milwaukee pitchers and two Yanks set a series record. The old mark was 16, set by the Yankees and Giants, Oct. 2, 1936. However, the Yank staff walked 11 Dodgers just a year ago today in the longest nine-inning series game ever played—3 hours and 26 minutes. Milwaukee's wild men passed 11 today and the Yanks gave up nine bases on balls.

The chill breeze and the top-heavy score drove many of the customers in search of the closest refreshment haven long before the final out.

They missed a little excitement in the dyin gmoments when Eddie Mathews, still hitless in the series opened the ninth with a walk and Aaron followed with a single. With one out, pinch-hitter Andy Pafko was hit by a pitched ball, loading the bases.

Bob Hazle lofted a high pop to McDougald and Del Crandall looked at a third called strike to end the game.

Kubek, whose father used to play ball for the Milwaukee Brewers in the American Association against Stengel's Toledo team, started this wild scoring splurge. He hit Buhl's third pitch into the right-field seats in the very first inning.

Walks to Mantle and Yogi Berra and a wild pickoff throw by Buhl set up another run on Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly that Aaron finally caught on his knees after stumbling. Harry Simpson, first of three Yanks first basemen, drove home Berra with the third run of that big first inning on a single off Red Schoendienst's glove.

Milwaukee had men on first and second with none out and loaded the bases with two out in the first but Turley got off the hook by throwing a third strike past Joe Adcock.

The Braves didn't let Turley escape for long. A walk to Hazle, Del Rice's single and Schoendienst's single produced a quick run in the second. Turley recovered to curl a curve past Logan for a strikeout but when he walked Mathews on a 3-2 pitch, Stengel came out.

Stengel drew a heavy roll of stormy boos by his mere appearance for it had been reported yesterday that he snubbed a welcoming party by a deputy mayor and some Yankee was supposed to have sneered "bush" at the planned celebration.

Two more Yank runs came across in the third off Juan Pizarro, the 20-year-old Puerto Rican southpaw who had relieved starter Buhl in the first. Singles by Mantle and Berra and a walk to pinch-hitter Elston Howard had loaded the bases with only one out. Jerry Lumpe, starting his first series game at third, singled off the lefthander to score both Berra and McDougald who had reached first while Mantle was being cut down at the plate on his grounder to third.

Gene Conley, the towering 6-foot-8 righthander, gave up the next pair in the fourth. Kubek's single and Mantle's home run did the trick .Mickey's smash reached the bullpen in center, his first homer since Aug. 30.

There seemed to be little wrong with Mantle on this fall afternoon. He walked twice, singled and homered before flying out.

Mickey's nine series homers moved him one ahead of Joe DiMaggio in the all-time class and tied him with Berra. Babe Ruth set the record of 15 and Lou Gehrig and Duke Snider each hit 10.

The Yanks closed out their big afternoon with five runs in the seventh against Bob Trowbridge who had only his own wildness to blame. Walks to McDougald, Jerry Coleman and Larsen filled 'em up with one gone and Hank Bauer singled home the first two. Kubek's second homer of the day, deep into the bleachers, brought Larsen and Bauer romping in ahead of him.

Sturdivant Chosen To Hurl for Yanks

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 5—(AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, relaxed and genial after his team had clubbed the Braves 12-3 today, nominated Tom Sturdivant to start on the mound in Sunday's World Series game.

Sturdivant, a right hander, combines craft with a good fast ball.

"I expect to give Whitey Ford four days' rest and go with him after Sturdivant. I'm not saying that positive, however," said Casey. Ford won the first game of the series.

Michigan State Upends California U. 20 to 0

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 5—(AP)—Michigan State's Spartans took to the air three times for touchdowns today to whip the unexpectedly tough University of California Bears 19-0.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

YES, yes, another weekend has passed. The Smith-Cotton Tigers took their worse drubbing of the season—but it was anticipated. And over in Columbia the University of Missouri Tigers got it in the neck. It appears a case of both team, high school and college are just playing clear out of their league, especially Missouri.

North Kansas City Hornets were all steamed up for their meeting with the Sedalians, and proved a point. They were just downright better—not better coached, but just had what it takes to remember what is told them in practice and following instructions as a new player was shifted in to "give the quarterback the dope."

From the rumors I received some of the boys had better settle down, spend a little more time training for football and just play. The boys have what it takes, but they are going to have to put is to use. More attention must also be paid to the Coaching staff, otherwise there may be some new faces seen in the lineup.

The "new faces" is strictly speculation on my part and hasn't been mentioned by Coach "Stub" Dow or his assistants Glavin and Edmonds. But knowing how Dow feels, he isn't going to stand for any foolishness.

So better luck next Friday when the Tigers go on the gridiron against the Hannibal Pirates on Friday night.

—o—

AS to Missouri. It appears definitely the scheduling of games has become one of bringing the top teams to town for the fans to see, not for much of a chance of winning a football game. Just like bringing a big stage show, a top notch orchestra or some big time star in for the folks to see and hear.

Certainly Missouri isn't any match for these teams rated among the top ten of the nation.

It does stress a point—it wasn't the coaching of Don Faurot which cost them some games in the past, 'cause they are still getting it and we have a fine new coach with some new plays, some which clicked but not for long.

Consequently there shouldn't be any howling about Coaching such as there was by a few radicals over Faurot which indirectly resulted in his retiring but boosting him to a better position without so many headaches.

There isn't any need for a change in the Coaching staff, just a change in the scheduling of games, some teams more on an equal footing with Missouri which try and stay within their state boundry for players.

On ten of Missouri's first 54 players are out-staters, they coming, nine from border towns of Missouri in Illinois, and one from Kansas.

With Southern Methodist coming up next week at Dallas, and a record over the years of two wins, 11 losses and one tie, it still looks doubtful if Missouri will start winning at least this weekend.

—o—

DID you know that Missouri played two games with a Sedalia football team? It was back at the turn of the century when the team was known as the Sedalia Athletic Club.

Missouri and the Athletic Club played two games—you guessed it—the University won both. Total Points M. U. 54, Sedalia A. C. 6.

For your information also, John A. Collins played with the Sedalia team and George Anson was at Missouri with the Tigers.

Those were the days when "men were men and Coaches glad of it," as Collins put it.

—o—

SMITH-COTTON will be well represented in the State Cross-Country meet on November 15, Coach Forrest Arnall, has announced. Arnall is enthused over the workouts of the runners and is in high spirits over the squad due to the present attitude of the boys out for the squad.

In past years cross-country teams have been a problem due to the popularity of football and as a result not too many good runners have been interested. But recently more interest has been instilled in the boys and the results appear profitable for a successful team this season.

Besides the State Meet there will be two meets with Columbia and Marshall and one with Jefferson City.

Arnall is hurting in one man and that is Dennis Houk who is out of the running this year because of a back injury suffered last summer in an accident. Houk was one of his mainstays for the buildup of the '57-'58 squad, but he has several others who are showing up well and may be able to fill the gap.

The local cross-country meets will be held at Washington Park this year while last season they were run at the State Fair grounds.

Minnesota Comes From Behind to Beat Purdue

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Quarterback Dick Larson, obscured the last two years by the attention lavished on Bobby Cox, rallied a stumbling Minnesota team in the second half today for a 21-17 Big Ten victory over odds bucking Purdue.

With Cox stymied at every turn by Purdue's charging defense, Larson took over with spectacular results. He raced 72 yards for one touchdown on a punt run back, passed for another that sent Minnesota into the lead for good in the third quarter, and sped over from four yards out for the clincher in the final quarter.

Purdue, leading 10-7 after a first half in which it swept through Minnesota's big linesmen with startling ease, looked ready to spring a major upset against the third ranked Gophers until Larson and its own fumbles shifted the tide.

Iowa Wheezes Past Wash. State 20 to 13

IOWA CITY, Iowa Oct. 5—(AP)—Iowa's flu-weak football forces wheezed to a 20-13 victory over Washington State today.

Iowa, crowded hard by the West Coast team, broke out of a 13-13 tie with four minutes left in the fourth period and brought obvious relief to the Iowa clientele in the gathering of 47,334.

The Hawks, who at one time early in the week had 27 players affected by the flu, took quick advantage of a recovered fumble for the victory drive.

Alex Karras, All-America tackle, snapped up Bob Newman's fumble on the Iowa 46. Eleven plays and 54 yards later Iowa had the winning touchdown on Kevin Furlong's dive from the one. Karras put on the finishing touch with a conversion.

14-Year-Old Girl Wins Women's AAU Pentathlon

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 5—(AP)—Ann Roniger, 14-year-old high school freshman from Elmdale, Kan., today won the women's National AAU Pentathlon over veteran performers.

Miss Roniger, competing for the first time in three of the five events, scored 3,803 points. An AAU official said she was the third U. S. women in history to exceed 3,600 points.

Barbara Mueller of Chicago, two-time champion and an Olympic Games hurdler last year, placed second with 3,721 points; Betty Scott, Tonkawa, Okla., third, 3,450; Sandra Hagadorn, Jennings, Mo., fourth, 3,393; Isobel Mitchell, Toronto, Canada, fifth, 3,363.

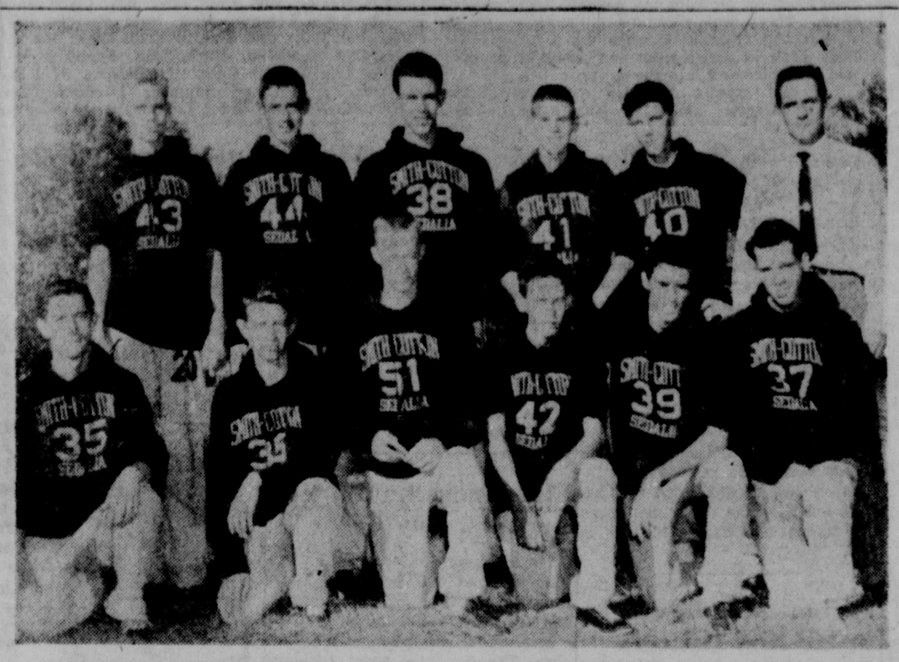

Seventeen from six states and Canada competed.

Miss Roniger won the high jump at 5 feet for 858 points; the 80-meter hurdles in 12.6 seconds for 809 points, and the broad jump at 17 feet 1 inch for 803 points. She placed fourth in the 200 meter run and sixth in the shot put.

Miss Roniger had never competed previously in the shot put, hurdles and high jump, but had spent time practicing on them the past summer.

Miss Mueller, the Olympic hurdler, and Miss Mitchell tied for second in the 80-meter hurdlers at 12.7 seconds. Miss Mitchell holds the American hurdles record.

North KC Hornets Sting Smith-Cotton Tigers 20-0

SMITH-COTTON CROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD—The 1957 cross-country track squad is shaping up and has been entered in the State Meet to be held in St. Louis on November 15. The team also has several other pre-state meets on the schedule with Columbia, Marshall, and Jefferson City. The squad, top row left-to-right, Joe Reed, Larry Siron, James Kresse, Cecil Ravenscraft, Kenneth Keele and Coach Forrest Arnall, bottom row, left-to-right, Dick Morris, Jimmy Carver, David Snow, Clarence Underhill, Dick Craig, Lorene Sutherlin. Only 2 First Downs Picked Up By Bengals

By D. Kelly Scruton

The sting of the Hornet was too much for the Smith-Cotton bengals on the North Kansas City gridiron Friday night, and the beaten Tigers returned home denied even a score. The Hornets put the sting to the over-anxious Tigers 20 to 0, a revenge for the 1956 upset they felt in Sedalia at the hands of the Tigers 20-19.

An intercepted pass which set up the first nip of the Hornet took the starch out of the Tigers tail and one more play saw the Northtown boys leading 7 to 0.

Smith-Cotton won the toss and chose to receive. They had the ball on their own 27, picked up 10 yards for their one of two first downs of the game. Picked up another yard and then lost the ball, on their own 44 yard line.

North Kansas City on a short pass over the center of the line saw the ball moved to the four yard strip. Here the Hornets became overanxious, drew a 15 yard penalty, lost a yard, and lost two more. Pigler's attempted pass was covered and he dashed 12 yards, far short of a first down.

The Tigers resumed play with the ball on their own six yard line. Kasak and Woodsmall picked up five yards. Then Woodsmall tried a pass and Don Henderson intercepted it and died on the one yard line with Woodsmall pulling him down. Mike Pigler carried it the yard for the score and Elvin Basham, kicked the extra point.

Neither team scored in the second quarter and the Tigers had charge of the ball only briefly in the second stanza in the Northtown territory. That was after Whitfield took a punt on Sedalia's 47 and fell over to the Hornets 49. Three plays moved it to the Hornets 41 and then a fumble by Gates trying to punt cost him four yards, and the opponents moved it back in the Sedalia area where it stayed the remainder of the quarter.

The half ended with North Kansas City holding to their 7 to 0 lead.

Opening the half the Tigers kicked off with the Hornets taking over on their own 28 yard line. After picking up four yards, being penalized five yards, they elected to punt, Whitfield standing on his 42 yard line made a feeble attempt to get the ball, missed and it touched him. Hobart Mason Hornet halfback came through and scooped it up in his arms and started for the goal. However under high school rules the ball was dead where he touched it on the 42, and was credited with recovery of a fumble.

Nothing spectacular occurred in the second quarter other than the fruitless run of Mason for a touchdown that didn't count.

In the third quarter the Hornets opened with it on the Tiger 11 yard line only to lose it on a fumble on the nine. The Tigers after three tries were a yard worse off than when they took over and a punt went out on their own 37 yard line.

Sixteen yards were picked up for a first down, an 18-yard pass coupled with three yards through the center gave them another first down and the ball on the Tiger two. Don Henderson carried it over on the next play for the score and

Sooners Roll To 40-14 Win Over I-State

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 5—(AP)—A wobbly Oklahoma football team obviously off stride after a bout with the flu, caught a stubborn Iowa State eleven today, and it wasn't until the late stages of the Big Eight Conference contest that the Sooners were able to finally pull away with a 40-14 victory.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, won its 42nd straight game but it was the Sooner's second team that showed the spark which marked the previous triumph. The alternates made two late touchdowns.

For the rejuvenated Iowa State team under new coach Jim Myers, the game was a moral victory if nothing else. It was the first time since 1951 that a Cyclone team was able to score against the Sooners.

Both Iowa State touchdowns, one in the second quarter after O. U. led 19-0, and the second with less than a minute left in the game, were on passes by halfback Dwight Nichols.

He pitched the first to Gale Gibson for 18 yards and the second nine yards to end Brian Dennis.

Starting quarterback Carl Dodd made two of Oklahoma's six touchdowns with the others contributed by Clendon Thomas, David Baker, Jakie Sandefer and Bobby Boyd.

Sandefer's touchdown was on an 81-yard punt return.

Dodd also converted twice, and Baker and David Rolle each kicked an extra point.

The victory started Oklahoma on its way toward a 10th straight Big Eight Conference title and made it 60 games in league play without a defeat.

Cornhuskers Win Over Kansas State 14 to 7

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 5—(AP)—An alert but injury riddled Nebraska collected its first victory of the 1957 season for its new coach, Bill Jennings, here this afternoon as the Cornhuskers upset favored Kansas State, 14-7.

A partisan Parents-Editors Day crowd of 14,000 saw the 'Huskers' pass deep in K-State territory. They broke up a 7-7 third quarter tie by rolling back 38 yards after a short K-State punt.

Britain Wins Ryder Cup In Big Upset

LINDRICK, England, Oct. 5—(AP) Britain's reviled professional golfers won the Ryder Cup today for the first time in 24 years, crushing a polished U. S. team that stumbled off the course in shocked disbelief.

The final score read: Britain 7, U. S. A. 4. One match was halved.

In a great last ditch stand and counter attack, the British won six of today's eight singles matches to carry off the golfing upset of the century.

All these British pros, rising above years of frustration, really had to be good today, since they lost three of yesterday's four Scotch foursomes and left themselves only the dimmest chance of pulling the match out of the fire.

"It's like another Waterloo," said one staid spectator while all around him people jumped for and cheered.

Here was the way the singles went:

Eric Brown Scotland, defeated Tommy Thunder Bolt, Los Angeles, 4 and 3.

Peter Mills, England, downed Jackie Burke, Bellaire, Tex., 5 and 3.

Ken Bousfield, England, turned back Lionel Hebert, Kafayette, La. 4 and 3.

Dai Ress, Wales, blasted Ed Furgol, Miami Shores, Fla., 7 and 6.

Bernard Hunt, England, defeated Doug Ford, New York, 6 and 5.

Christy O'Connor, Ireland, conquered Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., 7 and 6.

After the British victory was assured, Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas., came in with the day's only American victory. He beat Peter Alliss, England, 2 and 1.

Missouri Tigers Fall To Texas A&M Aggies 28 to 0

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 5—(AP)—Texas A & M College's magnificant football Aggies made routine work out of Missouri's game but outmanned Tigers, 28-0, today in an intersectional game played before 26,250 fans in clear, crisp weather.

It was the Texans' third victory of the season and their 13th successive game without a loss.

Texas A & M, the nation's fifth ranked team this week, packed its scoring into the second and third quarters, getting two touchdowns in each period.

Fullback Dick Gay leaped the last foot on a 69-yard drive for the first touchdown early in the second perfod. Sophomore quarterback Charles Milstead kicked the extra point, just as he did on all four chances he had today.

The Aggies got their second touchdown on a six-yard pass from Milstead to halfback Roddy Osborne. That one climaxed a 54-yard drive and the Aggies had a 14-0 at the half.

While the Texans had to grind hard for their half touchdowns, they got the jobs done a bit more easily in the third period. Halfback Bobby Conrad ran back the second half kickoff 91 yards. The fourth and final touchdown, a six-yard pass from Osborne to end Bobby Marks, came with 11 minutes and eight seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Missouri's most serious scoring threat faded on the Aggies' 10-yard line in the fourth period. A drive that started at Mid-field stopped when Tiger end Dale Pidcock dropped a pass from Phil Snowden in the Aggie end zone and the Aggies recovered a fourth down Tiger fumble on the next play.

Basham's kick was blocked by a gang of Tigers.

The score only inspired the Hornets and disrupted the Tigers. The Tigers took it on the kickoff on their own 34 yard line and on the first play Don Pyle went dashing madly through the Tiger line to accept a handoff by quarterback Dick Woodsmall intended for either Bryant or Herrick. This only irritated the Tigers and they held the Hornets for downs and took over again on their own 32.

Woodsmall picked up three, Bryan lost one and then Karl Kasak fumbled and Northtown recovered on the Tiger 39.

Pigler and Tonge picked up 15 yards. Tonge added another 13 yards, and the Hornets were caught clipping and the ball was on the 26. The Hornets on two plays got back 19 of the yards leaving seven to go. That was an easy seven with Pigler passing to Jerry Hancock who lateraled to John Tonge who went on for the score. Basham made his kick good and the score with 12 seconds to go was 20 to 0.

The Hornets kicked off to Hickman on the Tiger 16 who returned to the 26 and the game ended there.

The Hornets have a real team and were plenty of trouble to the Tigers who were outplayed in every department. Fumbles were costly six being made and five being collected in by the Hornets, only two first downs were accounted for against the Hornets 14.

It might also be said that the Tigers penalties speak for themselves as playing a hard game only 15 yards on one penalty while the Hornets were tagged for three 15 yard penalties and three five yard penalties. Toward the finish it became a little rougher than actually was necessary with the lead the Hornets held. The Tigers felt it, but I doubt if there will be many, if any, injuries which will result in anybody being out this coming week when they meet Hannibal Pirates on the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium gridiron.

Central College Dumps Eureka, Ill., 26 to 6

FAYETTE, Mo., Oct. 5—(AP)—Halfback Dick Butler broke loose for 18 and 15 yard runs in the first and third periods today in leading Central College of Fayette to a 26-6 non-conference football victory over Eureka, Ill.

Central, which now had a 2-1 non-league record, scored in each period. Fullback Elwood Wells went eight yards through tackle in the second and Ron Gully, went 65 yards on a quarterback sneak for the final score. D. C. Look made the conversions.

Dale Blank, a halfback, went 5 yards over guard to score for Eureka in the third period.

Army Scores 27 to 13 Win Over Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Oct. 5—(AP)—Army's offense minded Cadets, passing and running with poise, power and skill, rammed through three third quarter touchdowns today and established themselves as a definite eastern power with a 27-13 win over Penn State.

It was a rip-roaring offensive game all the way as the Nittany Lions delighted a record home crowd of 32,660 by outscoring the Cadets 13-7 in the first half. But the roof fell in in the third quarter as quarterback Dave Bourland from El Paso, Texas., guided the Black Knights to three touchdowns.

Baltimore Defeats Chicago Bears 21-10

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Baltimore Colts snubbed a try for a tying field goal, went instead for a touchdown and got it, then went on to beat the Chicago Bears 21-10 before 46,558 approving fans tonight.

It was the second straight defeat for the defending champions in the western division of the National Football League, while the Colts were winning their second game without a defeat.

Kansas Edges Buffs 35-34 In Big 8 Tilt

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 5—(AP)—Colorado, plagued by fumbles that produced three touchdowns for Kansas, rallied for three scores in the fourth quarter to take a brief lead before the Jayhawks sailed through the air for a 35-34 Big Eight Conference victory today.

Halfback Eddie Dove's 90-yard scoring run keyed the Colorado rally that was overcome by Kansas' winning touchdown and placement kick with barely more than a minute to play.

Trailing 34-28 with four minutes left, sophomore quarterback Larry McKown took over the controls for the Jayhawks and guided them to victory. He connected on a 58-yard pass play to halfback Homer Floyd that carried to Colorado's 4. On the third play, halfback Larry Carrier plunged in for the tying touchdown.

Quarterback Duane Morris kicked the decisive extra point. Colorado's vital extra point was missed on its fourth touchdown, when reserve center Charley Brown booted a low kick into the line.

Air Force Academy Upsets Detroit 19-12

DENVER, Oct. 5—(AP)—Sophomore John Kuenzel engineered a fourth quarter touchdown drive that gave the Air Force Academy Falcons a 19-12 victory over Detroit's Titans here today before 7,000 fans.

The triumph was the second in a row for the Falcons, whose big-time football hopes for subsequent seasons was in doubt after their opening season loss to UCLA in a 47-0 debacle. The Cadets' games with Occidental last week and Detroit were viewed by academy officials as keys to future grid scheduleing.

Kuenzel, making his first varsity start, completed 8 of 19 passes and called his plays smartly in directing the mild upset.

Fighting Irish Oust Indiana Hoosiers 12-0

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 5—(AP)—Notre Dame sent four different backs across Indiana's goal line and blanked the Hoosiers, 26-0 today. The Irish now have two victories in two starts, matching their successes in the school's worst-in-history season last year.

The stout Notre Dame defense, which stopped Purdue last week in a 12-0 Irish victory, held Indiana to 12 yards by rushing in the first half and 84 altogether. Notre Dame picked up 253 yards on the ground and 65 in the air.

'The Toe' Leads Browns Over Steelers 23-12

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—(AP)—Three field goals and two conversions by Lou (The Toe) Groza and touchdown passes by Chet Hauulak and Tommy O'Connell tonight gave the Cleveland Browns a 23-12 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers and undisputed possession of first place in the eastern conference of the National Football League.

Giants Take 24 to 20 Decision Over Eagles

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The New York Giants converted a blocked punt and an intercepted pass into a pair of touchdowns tonight, posting their first National Football League victory of 1957, a 24-20 decision over the winless Philadelphia Eagles before 28,342 fans at Connie Mack Stadium.

YOUNGSTERS START BOWLING—The above scene is at the new Broadway Lanes where 144 youngsters reported for the first Saturday morning of instructions a week ago and last Saturday the number had increased. The lanes were buzzing with youngsters, some learning for the first time, others who are "vets" by virtue of the lessons received a week prior. Here are some of the bowlers lined up ready to throw their first ball, with Mrs. Zelda Hardin, Joplin, chairman of the Missouri Junior Bowling Program, and a certified instructor; standing out front telling them "just what to do and not to do" (Lehmer Photo).

Seniors Plan Initiation For Freshmen

By Jim Couhig

The students are busy rehearsing their speeches for the speech contest, Oct. 25. The different categories from which the contestants may choose are: drama, humor, and original. Students participating in the contest are the following: Kenny Berlin, Jim Wiesing, Pat Sparks, Martha Berlin, Jeannie Lentz, Carolyn Saenz, Susan Bopp, Carol Brosch, Joanna Huff, Marie Mathieson, Mary Beth Staley and Catherine Mehl.

The seniors held a class meeting last Friday in which plans were made for the initiation of the freshmen Monday night, after which a dance will be held.

Carolyn Saenz won the Career Advancement Committee Contest of the Business and Professional Women's Club with her essay on "Why I Want a Business or Professional Career." Carolyn is a junior at Sacred Heart.

The junior cast which won the intramural play contest last year will travel to Houstonia to present its hilarious adaption of "Everything's Off." Members of the cast are: Martha Berlin, Laura Zuroweste, Patricia Seifner, Carolyn Moser, John Martin and Jim Mehl. The play is under the direction of Father Peletier.

The Knights of Columbus are sponsoring an essay contest on "What the Discovery of America by Christopher Columbus Means to Me." All high school students are entering the contest which will end Oct. 21.

The Mizpah held a meeting last Thursday in which the officers for the coming year were elected. They are as follows: Rose Anne Mergen, president; Marie Springer, vice-president; Pat Seifner, secretary; Marian Keens, treasurer; and Barbara Mayfield and Ruby Klein, sergeants at arms.

The activity drive ends Monday, Oct. 7, with the class whose ticket sales are the highest crowning its queen.

Kennie Miller Attends Real Estate Meeting

Kennie Miller, Director, was among the officers attending the fall meeting of the Directors of the Missouri Real Estate Association in Columbia, Mo. on Friday, Oct. 4. The group made plans for a two day educational seminar for Realtors to be held jointly with the Adult Education Department of the University of Missouri in December. Plans for the inaugural dinner for Officers Day to be held in January were perfected at this meeting. The program for the 1958 convention at Springfield was also selected.

No Injuries as Blast Destroys Building

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4—(AP)—A 1½-story building in the downtown business district was destroyed by an explosion shortly before 8 o'clock tonight.

There were no reports of injuries. The cause was not determined immediately.

The building housed the Sam Flack Office Supplies Co. at 1315 Walnut.

Falling rubble damaged two parked cars and the blast blew windows out of the store across the street.

Clarence Seaton Jr., was putting a car in a nearby parking lot when he heard the explosion. He said he saw the building up in the air and he had to run to escape the falling debris.

Wake Island, an airliner fueling station 4,000 miles west of California, has a population of 550 people. Their brick houses are reinforced and low in height to offer minimum targets to typhoons.

Over 150 Unaccounted For In Train Wreck

LAGOS, Nigeria, Oct. 4—(AP)—More than 150 persons remained unaccounted for in a Nigerian train disaster when the police issued a final casulty list today.

They listed 70 bodies recovered and 147 persons injured.

They could not explain what happened to the rest of the 370 or more passengers who were aboard the 17-car Lagos-Kano train which plunged over an embankment into a flooded river near Ibaden early Monday. However, many survivors are known to have walked away from the wreck.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James, daughter, Connie and Johny Foley, of Lockport, N. Y., are spending a few days visiting relatives. They were called here by the death of Lee May. Mrs. Mildred Fellows and her mother, Mrs. Irene McElwer, Springfield, Mo., also came to attend Mr. May's funeral.

Leon Trotsky was exiled from Russia on Jan. 16, 1928.

Rural Traffic Records Shows Improvement

Rural traffic fatality records on Missouri roads have shown signs of improvement in the first nine months of 1957.

Capt. John A. Berglund, of the Missouri Highway Patrol Safety Bureau said today: "We are now approaching the time of year when traffic fatalities traditionally increase." October, November and December in the past have been the year's most dangerous months on our state roads."

The Capt. reminded drivers that the improvement recorded so far, could easily be over shadowed by a poor record in the last three months of the year.

"This too," the Capt. said, "is the season when thousands of hunters will be on the highways driving to their favorite shooting grounds. Every hunter should inspect his equipment thoroughly and make certain his gun is in perfect firing order before taking it into the field, but just as important, he should have his car checked for any mechanical defects, as more people will be killed on the highway than in hunting mishaps."

"The return drive from a hunting expedition can be extremely hazardous." Capt. Berglund said. "Overtired from trudging through fields and woods, the hunter is apt to relax to the point of drowsiness on the long drive home. Some hunters feel that a drink or two will act as a pick up but this only serves to dull the senses and increase the chances of an accident in the field or on the highway."

"For a perfect hunting trip," he added, "check your gun, ammunition and equipment. Check your car, drive carefully and leave your bottle at home. These precautions will help keep our fatality rate low in the closing months of the year."

4-H Round-Up with

OWEN FOX

Pettis County Assoc. Agent

The 4-H members closed another year of 4-H Club work Sept. 30 and are ready to begin another. Before starting the new year of work, let's take a look at why boys and girls are anxious to join 4-H clubs:

Objectives

The national educational objectives in 4-H club work are:

Head — To instill in the minds of rural young people an intelligent understanding and appreciation of nature and the enviornment in which they live.

To teach young people the value of research and to develop in them a scientific attitude toward the problems of the farm and the home.

Heart — To train rural young people in cooperative action to end that they may increase their accomplishments and through associated efforts better assist in solving rural problems.

To help young people to develop desirable ideals and standards for farming, homemaking community life, and citizenship, and a sense of responsibility for their attainment.

Hands — To afford rural young people technical instruction in farming and homemaking, that they may acquire skill and understanding in these fields and a clearer vision of agriculture as a basic industry, and of homemaking as a worthy occupation.

To provide rural young people an opportunity to "learn by doing" through conducting certain farm or home enteprises and demonstrating to others what they have learned.

Health — To develop in rural young people habits of healthful living, to provide them with information and direction in the intelligent use of leisure, and to arouse in them worthy ambitions and a desire to continue to learn, that they may live fuller and richer lives.

Ten 4-H Guideposts

These guideposts are to aid 4-H members in analyzing their own situations, needs, and spiritually by:

Accurate Records Help Production, Decrease Costs

Increase milk production, decrease feed costs. That's always of prime concern to Missouri's dairymen. And it's being done by many dairy farmers by the use of accurate records, say University of Missouri extension dairymen.

Exact dairy records help you to know your herd, know the production of each cow, know which animals aren't doing their share of the job. You can see which cows are loafers and should be eliminated from your operation.

With good records you know whether or not your herd sire is the quality you want. You'll know which animals to select for brood cows and which heifers should be chosen fo herd replacements.

By the use of accurate records, you can decide how to improve the feeding and management on your farm for the most efficient operation possible.

Over 80 Farmers Hurt Each Year in State

You may want your fingers in several pies, but when it comes to corn pickers, hands off. Each year in Missouri more than 80 farmers receive mangled fingers, hands and arms because they wouldn't keep their hands off a running corn picker.

In a National Safety Council survey the average cost of each corn picker accident is $820, and that's medical expense only. Labor hours lost, and the permanent loss of an arm or hand, is difficult to measure in dollars.

They're not necessary, these corn picker accidents. They can be prevented so easily by shutting off the power take-off everytime you dismount the tractor.

19 PROTESTANT AND CATHOLIC CHURCHES WILL PARTICIPATE . . . .

Community Religious Census

will be conducted throughout Sedalia On Sunday Afternoon, October 13th

This Religious Census is the first to be taken in more than ten years and its purpose is to secure information regarding the religious affiliations and interests of the people of our community. Hundreds of volunteer church workers representing nineteen Protestant and Catholic churches will be calling on approximately 8,000 homes in this work. Because of the large area to be covered, some workers may start a day or two in advance, and in some instances the work may not be finished until the middle of the week following Census Sunday.

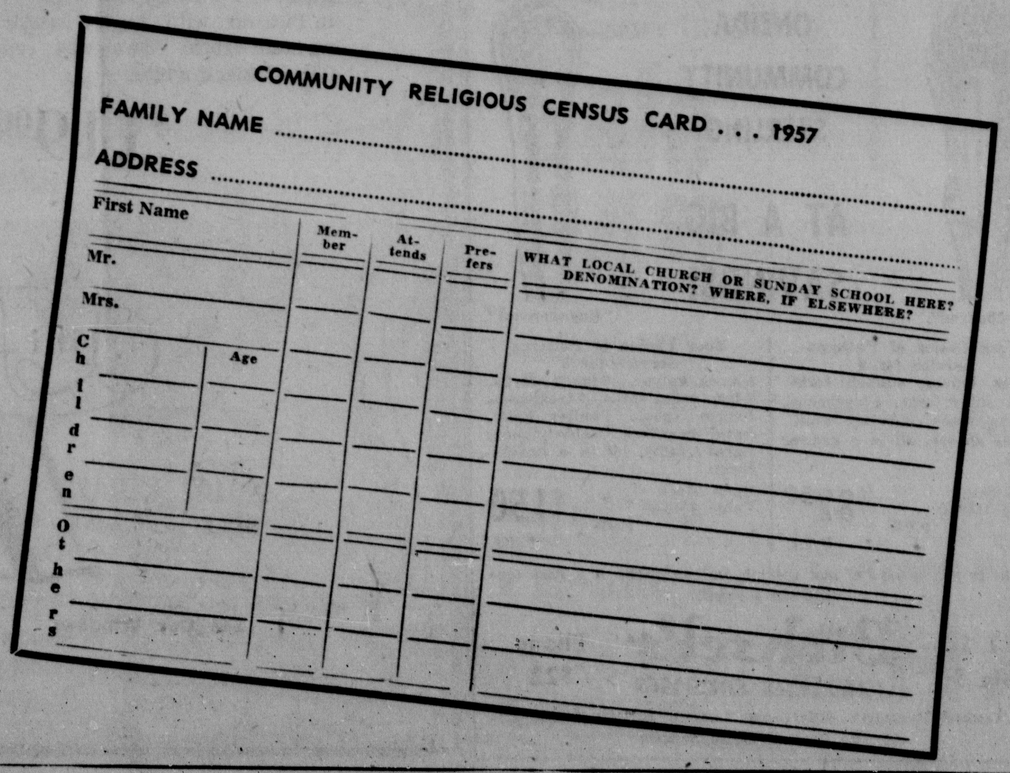

You will find these religious census takers to be cordial and courteous. They will not argue about churches or religion, nor will they criticize any church or religion. All the information they seek is listed on the form printed below which is an exact reproduction of the Community Religious Census Card . . . 1957. The result of this census will be to provide the churches with much valuable up-to-date information about their own members, new residents and older ones who are not actively affiliated with a Sedalia church.

Your courteous reception and accurate response to questions asked by the volunteer census takers will be appreciated by them and the various church groups represented in this task.

You May Fill in This Reproduced Community Religious Census Card if You Prefer and give it to the religious census taker when you are called upon, or if you are not at home on Sunday afternoon, October 13th, please place it in your mailbox or inside the screen door. Your cooperation will be appreciated and will help your volunteer caller to complete his, or her, work more quickly.

Your Participation Will Be Greatly Appreciated

Mrs. William Staley

Shirley Siegel, William Staley Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

Before an altar set with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and two seven branch candelabras holding lighted tapers Miss Shirley Siegel and William C. Staley were united in marriage at the Epworth Methodist Church Saturday, September 21. The Rev. Ralph Hurd performed the double ring ceremony at half past seven o'clock in the evening.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Siegel, Route 5, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Staley, 2221 East Ninth.

Mrs. Paul Berthouex, organist, played a program of wedding music preceding the ceremony which included "To a Wild Rose", "I Love Thee", "Indian Love Call", and "Oh Perfect Love". Don Broaddus sang "Always" and at the close of the ceremony "The Lords Prayer".

As the candles were lighted by Miss Shirley Morris and Miss Carolyn Staley, Mrs. Berthouex played "At Dawning". The candlelighters wore identical gowns of blue net over taffeta with matching headbands and wrist corsages of white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon lace over net and taffeta. The lace bodice was fashioned with long sleeves and the scalloped neckline was filled in with illusion net and finished with a Peter-Pan collar. The very full skirt of net featured a panel of lace in the center front. Her veil was shoulder length. She carried a cascade bouquet of small white carnations encircling a white orchid. The strand of pearls she wore was a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Frances Nolin, Ponca City, Okla., served as her sister's maid of honor. Her ballerina-length gown was of woodrose net over taffeta. A satin cummerbund encircled the waist. She carried a bouquet of bronze roses and pale yellow carnations.

Bob Schulz served as best man. Pete Siegel, Sedalia, Bob Starke, Topeka, Kan., Don Walz, Sedalia, and Clarence Eichholz, Smithton, ushered.

The bride's mother was attired in a beige dress with matching accessories and red carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown dress, brown and rust accessories and a corsage of bronze roses.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Pete Siegel, Sedalia, Mrs. Roy Snapp, Hughesville, and Mrs. Clarence Eichholz, Smithton, served. Miss Barbara Mielke, Pittsburgh, Kan., was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling, the bride wore a black and avacado dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Smithton High School, is employed in the office of Town and Country.

The bridegroom graduated from Smith-Cotton High School and is employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops.

Pink-Blue Shower For Mrs. Smith

A pink and blue shower was given for Mrs. Robert Smith Sept. 20 by Mrs. E. J. Bethke, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Hoover, Mrs. Fred Gordon and Mrs. Carl Wischmeier.

Pink and blue streamers fell from the chandelier to the corners of the lace covered table. A stork stood in the cente of the many gifts.

Games were played and prizes went to Mrs. C. M. Stratton, Mrs. Carl Wischmeier, Miss Lucille Eckhoff, and Mrs. Ernest Greene.

Refreshments carrying out the pink and blue color scheme were served to: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Fred Gordon, Mrs. C. W. Harris, Mrs. Johnny Wills, Mrs. Robert Morison, Mrs. Bill Berry, Mrs. Ernest Greene, Mrs. Clifford Hoover, Mrs. Martin Wischmeier, Mrs. Junior Zimmerschied, Miss Joyce Zimmerschied, Mrs. Carl Bergman, Miss Joan Barklage, Miss Lucille Eckhoff, Mrs. Lester Vansell, Mrs. Walter Meyer, Mrs. C. M. Stratton, Mrs. A. C. Bethke and Mrs. Carl Wischmeier.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were: Miss Nell Burford, Mrs. Edgar Oelrichs, Mrs. Raymond Oelrichs, Mrs. Rudie Brauer and Mrs. Dick Eckhoff.

Like spicy flavor in your dessert? Add ¾ teaspoon of ground cloves and the same of ground cinnamon to the flour mixture when you are baking angelfood cake from a mix. Frost with whipped cream and chocolate sprinkles.

Music Club Opens Season With Luncheon

Helen G. Steele Music Club will open its season Wednesday with a 12 o'clock luncheon at Heard Memorial Club House. Anyone who has not been contacted and desiring to attend is asked to call Mrs. John Petty, telephone 2694.

The program of the afternoon will be put on by the new members, with Mrs. A. R. Beach in charge.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president, will preside.

Observe 50th Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holst were honored with a reception Sunday afternoon, September 29, in honor of their golden wedding anniversary, at Bothwell Hotel. The reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Warner of Kansas City. Mrs. Warner, a niece, was reared by Mr. and Mrs. Holst.

The three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with yellow rosebuds and white and gold wedding bells. Gold and green lemon leaves and button mums encircled the cake and twin candelabra which held gold tapers. A large bouquet of gold chrysanthemums centered the punch table. Lighted tapers in a tall five-branch candelabra completed the table appointments.

Refreshments were served to 150 guests. Mrs. Ernest Holst, Sedalia, and Mrs. Raymond Kahrs, Smithton, served the cake and Miss Ruth Ann Fender and Miss Suzann Holst served the punch. Miss Mary Lee Kahrs, Smithton, had charge of the guest book. The girls wore pastel colored formals and yellow corsages.

Mrs. Holst wore a dress of blue taffeta with lace yoke trimmed with blue iridescent beads and rhinestones. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Guests attended from Kansas City, Coffeyville, Kan., Marshalltown, Ia., Cameron, Marshall, Slater, Malta Bend, Smithton, and the surrounding vicinity.

Semi-Annual Assembly Of CWF Is Held

The semi-annual assembly of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Pettis County met recently at the East Broadway Christian Church with Mrs. Ray Cover, county president, in charge.

The opening meditation, a poem entitled, "Man at his Best" was given by Mrs. W. D. Stevens, president of CWF of First Christian Church. Mrs. Helen Whittington sang "Only a Touch" accompanied by Miss Katherine Gorman.

The worship service was presented by Mrs. John Gilbert who chose as her theme, "The Beginning". A film, "We are all Brothers", was shown by Mrs. John Tevis, Mrs. Jess Staubli, reader. It showed many similaritjes and few differences among the people of the world, regardless of race, language, location or color.

Mrs. Conn appointed Mrs. Lester Smith, Mrs. W. Thomas and Mrs. Berry Elliott as members of the nominating committee. The group donated to the support of Mount Beulah Center, Edwards, Miss. This is a social and service center for Negroes.

Refreshments were served by the host church with Miss Nellie White presiding at the tea table.

The last Thursday in April, 1958, was tentatively set for the date of the next meeting which will be at the First Christian Church.

About Town

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Sheffield, 1211 West Fifth, have returned from their two-week vacation trip through Ohio, New York and into Canada.

Mrs. G. P. Finerty, Jr.

Couple Weds In Nevada

Miss Patricia Anne Hayes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Hayes, Imperial, Calif., formerly of Sedalia, became the bride of George Paul Finerty Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Finerty, San Francisco, Calif. at five o'clock Monday evening, September 23, at Park Memorial Wedding Chapel in Reno, Nevada.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. Laura Engholm, formerly of Sedalia now of Imperial, Calif., and Mrs. Gladys Hayes, Sedalia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and satin trimmed with rhinestones and pearls. The full hoop skirt lengthened into an aisle wide train. A coronet of lace outlined with rhinestones and pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The mother of the bride wore a white sheath dress with aqua duster and her flowers were pink roses.

For traveling, the bride wore a lime sheath and matching duster complimented with a white orchid.

The bride is a student at Imperial Valley Union High School and the bridegroom is stationed at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, El Centro.

They are residing in Imperial.

Browns Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Brown celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by holding "open house" from two p.m. to five p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 2, at their home in Green Ridge.

Cake and punch was served to over 75 relatives and friends.

The dining table was covered with a yellow linen cloth. The five-tier cake, baked by her daughter, Mrs. Lucille Sanders of Sedalia, was topped with the numeral 50. Yellow candles in crystal candelabra were on either side. The buffet held a large arrangement of yellow flowers, graced on either side by yellow candles in twin crystal candelabra.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married on October 2, 1907, at Weldon, Ill. at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Phillips, by the Rev. E. A. Weaver. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were engaged in farming and spent about 48 years on a farm northeast of Green Ridge where they made their home after their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Brown retired and moved to Green Ridge two years ago where they built a new home.

They are the parents of two children. Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders were present. Their son, Leslie, was killed in an accident in 1942.

Mrs. Mary Galloway of Patoka, Ill., a sister of Mrs. Brown was present and also was present at the wedding in 1907.

Those attending from a distance were, Mrs. Daisy Brown of Kansas City, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Williamson, Mrs. John Cole and Mrs. Theodore Connor, all of Sedalia.

Exchange Vows At St. Louis

The wedding of Miss Barbara Lee Wimberly and Paul Ronald Dickens took place Saturday evening, September 28, at Gidding - Bayle Presbyterian Church in St. Louis. Dr. A. J. Niebruegge performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of white chrysanthemums, formosa ferns and candlelight.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Wimberly, St. Louis and a great granddaughter of Hubert Long, 411 South Engineer. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dickens, also of St. Louis.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her maid of honor, Miss Ellen Baine, and bridesmaids, Miss Helen Lee and Miss Burlis Bridges. They wore identical dresses of iridescent green taffeta in waltz length. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves. The full skirt of nylon tulle and satin lengthened into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion cascaded from a crown of tiny pearls. Her bouquet of lilies of the valley was centered with a white orchid.

George Muchlmann served as best man. John Rasche and Gilbert Stenrmerman were groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a coral rose lace dress, white accessories and carnation corsage. The mother of the groom was attired in navy blue. Her accessories and corsage were pink.

The newlyweds left immediately after the reception, held at the church for over 400 guests, for a trip through the southern states. They will reside in St. Louis.

WINTER COATS

Many of you haven't selected your winter coat as yet—the selection is still beautiful and of course by now we know that certain colors will be good. Black is terrific, besides being dressy and smart, it does go with so many things. Red dresses ad suits have been so important and of course under the black coats they give a very elegant look. Light shades come next. Beige, nude, and nutria are all included in this group, and they too go with nearly everything and for those who wear browns and beiges, they make the perfect color coat. For those who want something a little different or who have tired of the black and neutral shades there is a varied group offered. Rose is beautiful and can be worn with quite a few different colors. Beautiful shades of blue from Dior blue to deep slate blue is new and being accepted nicely. Tweeds of course are good as usual. For practibility, long wear and smartness they can't be beat. Brilliant reds, a few muted greens and gold too are being shown. So whatever your taste or needs, it will be possible to find it — but don't wait too long to make your selection.

Miss Edna Bormann Exchanges Vows With Marcus Heisterberg

Mrs. Marcus F. Heisterberg (Wright photo)

On Sunday, September 22, Miss Edna Bormann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bormann, Cole Camp, became the bride of Marcus F. Heisterberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Heisterberg, also of Cole Camp at St. John's Lutheran Church in Cole Camp. The Rev. Carl H. Wolff performed the double ring ceremony at six o'clock in the evening before an altar setting of garden flowers and lighted tapers.

Mrs. Ervin Borchers, Cole Camp, played a prelude of organ music preceding the ceremony including "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring", "Love Divine, All Love Excelling", and "O Love That Casts Out Fear". The traditional wedding marches were used.

Miss Velda Mae Eckhoff, Lincoln, sang "O Perfect Love", and "The Lord is My Shepherd".

The candles were lighted by Miss LaVeda Kaiser and Miss Lucille Eckhoff, Sedalia. They wore identical formals of pink taffeta and lace designed like those worn by the bride's attendants.

The bride was preceded to the altar by her matron of honor, Mrs. Alvin Pritzel, Cole Camp, and bridesmaid, Miss Betty Denker of Kansas City. Mrs. Pritzel, cousin of the bride, wore a ballerina length gown of orchid taffeta and lace. The strapless bodice was designed with net inserts and a short bolero lace jacket was worn for the ceremony. She carried a colonial bouquet of purple asters. Miss Denker wore a nile green gown identical in design to the honor attendant's. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow asters.

The little flower girl, Cheryl Heisterberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Heisterberg, Kansas City, and niece of the bridegroom, was dressed identical to the bride and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Lloyd Heisterberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Heisterberg, Cole Camp, carried the rings.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of net over satin styled with a fitted bodice, scalloped sweetheart neckline outlined with lace and short sleeves. The skirt featured a V shaped panel of pleated net outlined with appliqued lace in front and back. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of embroidered medallions centered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Leroy Heisterberg, Kansas City, served as his brother's best man and Eldor Bormann, also of Kansas City, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers were Bob Mueller and Marvin Granneman, Kansas City.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with white carnation corsage and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy blue dress. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony open house was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Dorene Kaiser, Sedalia, was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling the bride wore a two piece gray suit and black accessories.

The bridegroom graduated from Cole Camp High School with the class of 1948 and served two years with the armed forces. He is employed with Fairbanks-Morse in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shipps, Route 1, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Evelina, to Tony T. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Turner, Route 2, Green Ridge. The marriage will take place Nov. 15. (Lehmer photo)

In 1925 he was married to Miss Geraldine Hall of Dunklin County. Their son, John Hall Dalton, is a member of the law firm at Kennett, and their daughter, Mrs. Walton Hyland, and her husband, Dr. John Hyland, reside in St. Louis where Dr. Hyland is a resident physician at Barnest Hospital.

Mrs. Leo E. Eickhoff, current topics chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Shower Honors Edna Bormann

Mrs. Otto J. Tubesing, 1413 South Carr, gave a miscellaneous shower for Miss Edna Bormann, now Mrs. Marcus Heisterberg, Wednesday evening, Sept. 18.

Gifts were placed on a lace covered table in the middle of the room. Centering the table was a miniature all white satin umbrella, trimmed with lillies of the valley and white satin bows. The umbrella was standing in a large crystal plate and a shower of rain drops from melting ice cubes concealed under the umbrella "showered" the white gardenias and lillies of the valley beneath. Streamers of white and pink extended to the four corners of the table from a blue lighted chandelier to which a white wedding bell was attached. A beautiful bride doll illuminated by lighted tapers in a candelabra adorned the television set.

During the evening games were played and all prizes won by the guests were later presented to the bride-to-be. A special gift to the honoree from the hostess was a pair of tiny crocheted shoes, miniatures of the shoes she had chosen for her wedding.

Favors were miniature umbrellas filled with mints.

Refreshments were served to: The honoree, Mrs. William Bormann, Mrs. Fred Heisterberg, Mrs. Edward Bauer, Mrs. Harold Brackmann, Mrs. Arnold Steffens, Mrs. Olaf Heisterberg, Miss Ruby Borgman, Miss Shirley Kaiser, Miss Loneda Kaiser, Miss Lucille Eckhoff, Miss Vernell Blumhorst, Miss Velda Mae Eckhoff, Miss Joan Barklege, Mrs. Alvin Pritzel, Miss Frieda Brauer, Miss Mable Brauer, Mrs. R. H. Rotermund, Mrs. Walter Kaiser, Mrs. George E. Gibbs, Mrs. Louis Bormann, Mrs. Arthur Miesner, Mrs. Alfred Eckhoff, Mrs. Edward Bormann, Mrs. Melvin Bormann, Mrs. Gerhardt Kaiser, Mrs. Walter Goodson, Mrs. Delbert Bormann, Miss Norma Jean Kaiser, Miss Dorene Kaiser and Mrs. Joseph Kabler.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Gladys Bormann, Mrs. Ervin Borchers, Mrs. Reno Young, Mrs. Leonard Heisterberg, Mrs. Adolf Kaiser, Mrs. Leonard Steffens, and Miss Betty Denker.

Mrs. H. Gwinn Presides At PTA Conference

The Sedalia District PTA Conference was held Friday, Sept. 27 at Hotel Frederick in Boonville with Mrs. Howard Gwinn presiding. The theme was "Now Is The Time." The programs in yellow and blue were in the form of clock faces.

The flag presentation was made by Sumner School, Boonville. Mrs. Robert Painter led in singing the national anthem and the devotional was given by the Rev. J. C. Bierbaum. Mrs. Ed Helmrich, Cooper County Council president and Charles Repp, county superintendent, extended greetings. The response was given by Mrs. Gwinn.

The following guests were recognized: Mrs. J. R. Katochvil, program and founders day chairman of MCPT, Miss Jane Younger, reading and library chairman, Charles Repp of Morgan County and Mr. McDaniel, superintendent of Moniteau County.

Council reports were given by each council president, Mrs. Clarence Powell, Benton; Mrs. Ed Helmerich, Cooper; Mrs. John Singer, Moniteau; Mrs. Herbert Brunjes, Morgan; Mrs. Earl Gregory, Pettis; Mrs. Murrell Elson, Saline; Mrs. Ted Coffman, Marshall City Council and Mrs. Sam Knapp, Sedalia City Council.

Miss Younger was chairman of the symposium, "Now Is The Time In PTA," with the various presidents taking part.

Following the noon meal the afternoon program was presented. Special music was furnished by the Boonville Schools. Mrs. J. R. Kratochvil spoke on "Now Is The Time To Prepare For Better Homes, Schools, Churches, Communities And For Our Youth."

Attendance banners were awarded to the school having the largest attendance. This was based on percentage and the following schools received banners: District R-10, Locust Grove, Clarksburg, Versailles, Blackwater-100, Benton, Mosby and Whittier.

Moniteau County invited the district to meet with them next year.

Several Honored At Birthday Dinner

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wimer, Knob Noster, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Clevenger, Green Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. George Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ray and son, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray and Louise.

A three tier birthday cake with candles was the table centerpiece.

Miss Mary Ann Donahoe Becomes Bride Of William L. Yankivch

Mrs. William L. Yankivch (McVey Photo)

Miss Mary Ann Donahoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Donahoe, Green Rodge, recently became the bride of William L. Yankivch, son of Mrs. Emma Donavan, Indiana, Pa., a Sacred Heart Church. The Rev. Francis H. Gallon performed the double ring ceremony and the altar was adorned with bouquets of white gladioli, highlighted with blue baby breath. Two baskets of jade foliage stood in front of the altar.

Mrs. Earl Paxton, organist, played "Mass of the Angels," "Mother Beloved" and "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling." James Eckley of Whiteman AFB sang "Ave Maria," "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of frost white French lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The basque bodice was fashioned with long tapering sleeves and a wide scoop neckline finished with lace scallops. The front of the bodice was trimmed with iridescent sequins which highlighted the flower design of the lace. The bouffant skirt, formed of nylon tulle tiers, featured a peplum effect of lace which fell in floor length panels on each side. Her headdress was a modified pillbox of matching lace, edged with pearls and dotted with sequins. She carried a white satin prayer book topped with an orchid surrounded with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Kenneth Bell was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Coleen Roberts and Miss Rosemary Sedlak, Sedalia, and Mrs. Patrick Fallon of St. Louis, were bridesmaids. They wore ballerina-length dresses of nylon lace in cotillion blue. They were designed with strapless bodices and very full skirts. A wide satin sash of blue formed the fitted midriff and tied at the back with a bustle bow. A dust ruffle encircled the hem. A net shoulderette was worn for the ceremony. Mrs. Bell carried a basket of blue carnations and the bridesmaids carried baskets of yellow daisies and roses.

Ernest F. Thibault served as best man and groomsmen were Dennis DesLauriers, Kenneth Bell and Frank Pinksaw, Sedalia. Patrick Fallon of St. Louis and Frank Stolte, Whiteman AFB, ushered.

Kenneth Mosier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mosier, Route 2, carried the rings.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Donahoe chose a blue crepe suit with matching accessories and white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pale blue lace sheath accented with navy accessories and white carnation corsage.

A reception was held that evening for 100 guests at the home of the bride's parents.

Blue pompons and smilax encircled the three-tiered cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Lighted tapers in silver candelabra were on either side of the cake.

Mrs. Robert Schulz and Mrs. Charles Storch served at the bride's table and Mrs. Dennis DesLauries was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left for the Lake of the Ozarks following the reception. The bride wore a black and white baby checked linen dress with large white collar. An orchid corsage and black patent leather accessories completed her ensemble.

The bride is a graduate of Green Ridge High School and for the past two years has been employed by Prudential Insurance Co.

The bridegroom graduated from high school in Indiana, Pa., and is an IBM operator at Whiteman AFB.

They are residing at 412 West Broadway.

Pre-Nuptial Party Given At Golder Home

Mrs. William Yankivch was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Margaret Golder, 313 West Seventh, prior to her marriage.

Refreshments were served to: the honoree, Miss Colleen Roberts, Mrs. Paul Rialti, Mrs. Robert Schulz, Miss Ann Schroeder, Miss Erma Fajen, Mrs. Jim Bass, Mrs. Dennis Des Lauriers, Mrs. Leo Lennartz, Mrs. Mary Jens, Mrs. Kenneth Bell, Mrs. Jennings Donahoe, Mrs. Ernest Thiabault, Mrs. Richard Warren, Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks, Miss Carol Pierce, Mrs. Irene Maroney, Mrs. Mildred Glenn, Mrs. Dorothy Mosier, Mrs. Leonard Chmelir and Miss Mildred Chmelir.

Miss Mamie McCormick, Miss Rosemary Sedlak, Mrs. Robert Moon, Mrs. Charles Storch, Miss Margaret Heller, Miss Mary Ann Moellman, Miss Ida Mae Bahner, Mrs. Charles St.Cyr, Mrs. Anna Chmelir and Mrs. Anna Grotzinger were unable to attend but sent gifts.

Mrs. Kenneth Alan Vaughan

Carol Ayres Becomes Bride Of K. Vaughan

Miss Carol Jean Ayres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ball, of Fortuna and Kenneth Alan Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vaughan, Clarksburg, were united in marriage at the First Methodist Church in Fortuna Saturday afternoon, September 28. The Rev. Harry Smith, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an aqua knit suit with white hat and black accessories and white carnation corsage.

Miss Mary Pedego was maid of honor. She wore a gold colored suit with black accessories and white carnation corsage.

The bride's mother wore a brown suit with beige and brown accessories and the groom's mother wore a blue dress with navy accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Tipton High School class of 1957 and has employment in the offices of the Fred Weber Shoe Company. The groom graduated in 1956 from Tipton High School and attended one year at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, and is a carpenter, employed with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan will make their home in Tipton.

PROUD PARENTS—M-Sgt. and Mrs. George R. Rodibaugh pose with daughter LuAnn Muriel who recently received her United States citizenship. LuAnn was adopted by the Rodibaughs in French Morocco in 1954.

U. S. Citizenship Granted Sergeant's Adopted Tot

Three-year-old LuAnn Muriel, adopted daughter of M/Sgt. and Mrs. George R. Rodibaugh, route two, Knob Noster, was granted her United States citizenship in Federal District court recently at Kansas City, Mo.

Sgt. Rodibaugh, a veteran of 16 years AF service, was assigned to Ben Guier AFB, North Africa, in October 1952, for a one-year tour of duty. His wife Lulu, children, Ralph and Rene, joined him in April 1953, which extended his tour of duty another year.

The idea of adopting a child came to the Rodibaughs in March 1954. Procedures were initiated, and in May of that year, LuAnn was brought to the Rodibaughs from a hospital somewhere in Africa. Time for the family's overseas tour was running out, and the adoption papers, passport and visa for LuAnn had not been completed. The sergeant solved this problem by extending his tour of duty yet another year.

The papers were finally completed and in July 1955, the Rodibaughs returned to North Webster, Ind., the sergeant's home town. He filed for state adoption papers required in Indiana, and completed them.

He was assigned to the Supply squadron at Whiteman in August 1955, and the family waited out the two-year residential requirement needed prior to acquiring LuAnn's citizenship.

When asked about the long process he and his family had to go through, Sgt. Rodibaugh said, "I'm glad it's over, but it was worth it. LuAnne is a part of the family we couldn't have done without."

The average $4,500 a year man in the U.S. must work two hours and twenty-six minutes a day just to pay his taxes, according to a survey made by Tax Foundation.

Rats Can Take Large Portion Of Stored Crop

Missouri farmers can't afford to feed corn to rats, but chances are that's where a goodly portion of your stored crop will go this year, if cribs and bins aren't rat-proof.

Ten rats can eat as much corn as a market hog and the loss from rats can amount to as much as one-fourth or even one-third of your stored grain. This loss is enough to pay for rat-proofing several times over.

If you have a steel grain bin with metal or concrete floor there's little chance rats will bother stored corn. If your corn crib is wooden, here's some suggestions from University of Missouri extension ag engineers to make that wooden crib rat-proof.

Openings larger than one-half inch in diameter should be covered with woven wire mesh or hardware cloth, don't forget drainage spouts and other small pipes.

Foundation walls need to extend at least 18 inches below the ground since rats can dig one and one-half feet under buildings. For further insurance, floor the crib with concrete or hardware cloth on the crib bottom.

Surround the entire crib with wire netting to a height of two feet and top with a strip of galvanized metal eight inches to a foot wide. Remember, rats can jump as high as 36 inches.

Be sure overhanging limbs from near-by trees are cut, or rats will drop down on the crib from above. And keep crib doors and windows closed at all times when not in use, or any precaution against rats is worthless.

Reports Cost Of Eggs Near Market Price

By Lloyd Lewellen

How much does it actually cost to produce a dozen of eggs on your farm and cover all costs except labor?

At the quality egg marketing meeting at the Ted Phillips Egg Buying Store in Marshall on Wednesday, Sept. 25, many actual experiences were related in the development of a successful quality egg marketing program both from the buyer and producer viewpoint.

The estimates given by many in attendance as to the cost of producing a dozen of eggs ranged from 18 to 25 cents. Ted Joule, Marketing Specialist, gave the costs of the ten high-profit flocks who kept records for the College of Agriculture last year as 30 cents per dozen. This figure represents all feed cost, building and equipment depreciation, insurance, interest, chick costs and all other costs except labor. He also stated that some flocks had a cost as high as 39 cents per dozen. Usually it costs a dime a dozen above your laying ration costs to the laying flock, which adds up to the 30 cent figure at present laying ration costs.

Selling eggs on current receipt market just doesn't match the 30-39 cent cost which is why more laying flocks are leaving Pettis County farms each year. Right now grade A large eggs are about 14 cents above the current receipt price and the yearly average is 9 cents. Unless you are producing hatchery eggs on a year-round basis, you need to be selling on a graded market to make any money.

Producing quality eggs is no easy task for any farmer or farmwife. Nor can any egg buying store make a go of grading current receipt eggs according to Mr. Phillips. Records show on a full year that only 10-15 per cent of the current receipt eggs will grade out as Grade A eggs. "This is a sure way for both the producer and buyer to go broke," says Mr. Phillips.

Unfortunately, poultry is in the position the past few years of having the keenest competition of any of our livestock. Without very much doubt this same squeeze will become evident in all our livestock production.

Some say that too much money is being made in handling and selling graded eggs. The averages show that the buyer needs 11 cents a dozen to pick up the eggs, candle, carton, and deliver the eggs to the retailer. Most retailers use a 11 per cent mark-up on all items they sell. Add these to the price of grade A large eggs at 40 cents and the present spread between the producer and consumer prices is explained.

Right now at least 50 per cent of the eggs consumed in Sedalia are shipped in from outside Pettis County. This same situation is true for the State of Missouri. As a producer of table eggs the challenge is to produce what the consumer wants and when they want it.

Federated Church Plans Fall Festival

Individual and group planning and work will be consumated at the annual Fall Festival and Lord's Acre Sale to be held on the grounds of the Federated Church at Bunceton Saturday, Oct. 12.

A meeting of committees and workers was held at the church Wednesday evening, to bring together the reports of the various groups. This meeting was called by Porter A. Wilson, general chairman of the eighth annual Fall Festival.

Each year since 1949 the members and friends of the Federated Church have held a program and sale as a part of the church's stewardship program. This is held at the close of the harvest and is intended to represent an occasion of thanksgiving for the fruits of the year's harvest.

The activities of the occasion can and do vary from year to year according to the wishes of the Congregation. This year it was their wish to continue the program of recent years in having children's contests with prizes beginning at 10:30 a.m. The Catfish dinner to be served continuously from noon to 7 p.m. The Lord's Acre Sale at 1 p.m. at which time any item donated to the sale will be auctioned to the highest bidder.

Hallowe'en Party Is Planned For Club

Plans were made for a family Hallowe'en party at the October meeting of Longwood Extension Club which met at the home of Mrs. Faris Zimmerman. The party will be held at Cartwright School October 26.

Mrs. Joe Jenkins gave the devotional and Mrs. Tom Harvey spoke on marketing of quality eggs. Mrs. Carl Raines reported on selling livestock. Mrs. Kathryn Zimmerman's letter was ready by Mrs. Clay Leftwich. Twenty-five members answered roll with "A favorite quotation or song of my parents".

Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. Pete Durley and Mrs. R. E. Hurd were guests.

Mrs. Carl Raines will entertain the club Nov. 6.

Attend District Meet

Dr. and Mrs. Carl K. Almquist and Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Durnell attended the annual meeting of the Central District Dental Society in Rolla, October 2.

The Protection of Sedalia Homes and Commercial Property Depends on a Constant and Adequate Water Supply!

PRACTICE FIRE PROTECTION—

YOUR WATER DEPARTMENT is constantly planning and making improvements to Sedalia's Water System so it will keep pace with our growing community and its needs, and to provide better protection to health and property.

Such improvements as the Million Dollar Elevated Storage Tank which maintains a constant pressure in the distribution system and a reserve of water for fire protection, has been followed by the drilling of a new deep well to increase the raw water supply.

Also, a planning program of laying new, larger water mains and the installation of additional fire hydrants is in progress to insure continued good and adequate service to all our customers.

Children Are Symbolic

State and Local Officials Ignore High Court Rulings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—At a corner of the Supreme Court grounds, almost obscured by a fast-growing hedge, is a sign that reads: "No Roller Skating."

Yet sometimes in the evening youngsters who haven't seen the warning, or have chosen to ignore it, skate there anyway.

As the justices return to work Monday for another session, those skating youngsters seem almost symbolic of what has happened nationally.

Despite certain decisions by the court—particluarly in the field of segregation—some state and local officilas carry on as if they never heard a word it said.

Some hold up the decisions for all to see and say they will defy them, at least as long as they can.

Some, while accepting the court's authority, loudly insist that it is wrong.

Certainly the decision of May 17, 1954 — that segregation is nconstitutional in public schools- brought fierce criticisms and violent reactions.

But other verdicts have drawn fire too.

Critics have pointed out that as a result of court actions:

1. A rapist, some second-team Communists and two Army wives who killed their husbands have been turned loose or granted new trials.

2. The Justice Department would have to give defendants pertinent evidence in the secret FBI files, a decision later modified by Congress.

3. Congress will have to be more specific in its questioning if it expects to see many balky witnesses convicted of contempt.

4. The President may hand an American soldier over to a foreign government for trial even though he was on duty when he allegedly violated the law.

The list could be extended. But, for flavor, let's sample some comments.

"The Supreme Court must be curbed," said James F. Byrnes, once a justice himself. "Power intoxicates men. It is never voluntary surrendered. It must be taken from them."

"A few good lawyers on the Supreme Court," Rep. Usher Brudick (R-ND) told the House, "would not hurt a bit at this time. No good lawyers who knew beans about criminal law would ever have signed the opinion. . . ."

And Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) said in a report to his constituents:

"The court has gone a long way to protect the wolf from Little Red Riding Hood."

Yet there have been cheers as well as boos. Take this burst of approval from a former dean of law, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.).

"In the inevitable march of history, we have reached the point where the Supreme Court has proclaimed the right of equality of justice under the 14th and 15th amendments."

In an effort to understand such divergent views, let's look briefly at the court's history.

Repeatedly the Constitution has meant something to one Supreme Court at one moment in history, and then, without a word of the Constitution being changed, it has meant something else to another court.

Charles Evans Hughes, who served two hitches on the high court, said: "We are under a Constitution, but the Constitution is what the judges say it is."

During John Marshall's time as chief justice early in the 19th century, these points were nailed despite criticism, ever since.

1. The federal government is supreme over the states, although the exact boundaries remain in dispute, as recent events in Little Rock so dramatically showed.

2. The last word on what is and what isn't constitutional belongs to the Supreme Court.

Despite Marshall's great stature today, he was a villain to Thomas Jefferson, who led the anti-Federalist party. Here's how Jefferson sized up the Marshall court:

"An opinion is huddled up in conclave, perhaps by a majority of one, delivered as it unanimous, and with the silent asquiescence of lazy or timid associates, by a crafty chief judge, who sophisticates the law to his mind by the turn of his own reasoning."

Some crucial dates in the court's history:

1856 - the Dred Scott case, involving the rights, if any, of a slave taken to free territory.

Many Northerners, including a country lawyer named Abraham Lincoln, were concerned because the court held that no Congress could declare any U. S. territory free soil. Slavery, therefore, could spread anywhere.

1861-65—Civil War. In effect, it reversed the Dred Scott decision.

1895—By a 5-4 vote, court ruled income tax unconstitutional.

1902 — Oliver Wendell Holmes named to court, to serve with wisdom and wit for 30 years.

Holmes' view, as once expressed to Justice Harlan F. Stone:

"About 75 years ago I learnt that I was not God. And so, when the people . . . want to do something I can't find anything in the Constitution expressly forbidding them to do, I say, whether I like it or not, 'Dammit, let 'em do it!' "

1896 — Plessy vs. Ferguson. Court ruled 7-1 that no one's constitutional rights were violated if separate but equal facilities were provided for both white and colored races.

1913—16th Amendment adopted, permitting income taxes.

1933—Great industrial and economic contraction. Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the White House. Stage set for dramatic showdown, with FDR and Congress racing down an economic highway that would run smack into a court roadblock.

1937—Collision came off, as expected. Within three years, court nullified 12 acts of Congress, including some of the New Deal's most important legislation.

Roosevelt came out for a comprehensive judicial reform, but most attention centered on that part wherein the number of justices would be increased. Fight was noisy, bitter.

Congress rejected his so-called court-packing plan, but though Roosevelt lost the battle, he won the war. For Justice Owen D. Roberts, who had been voting with the conservatives, switched sides, and the ultraconservative Justice Willis Van Devanter retired at the end of the session.

1940—Court ruled it's okay for a state to expel children from public schools for refusing to salute the flag.

1941—Justice James C. McReynolds retired. Last of the old school. George Sutherland left in 1938. Pierce Butler died in 1939. All had been staunchly conservative.

When the court reversed its 1918 stand and decided a child labor law was constitutional, there wasn't a dissenting vote.

1943 — Court changed its mind about saluting. By a 6-3 vote, it said state statute compelling youngsters to salute flag is unconstituitonal.

1954 — Court decided 9-0 that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

1956-57—Court handed down series of decisions on civil rights. These narrow considerably what a city, state or federal government can do with individual liberties—and this holds true whether he's a convicted rapist or a convicted Communist.

Justice Felix Frankfurter once said: "It is a fair summary of history to say that the safeguards of liberty have been forged in controversies involving not very nice people."

Now they have been joined by William J. Brennan and John Marshall Harlan. Charles E. Whittaker hasn't been on the court long enough to take part in many decisions.

Let's look at four cases decided at the tail end of the last session. These involved a former union official, Clinton E. Jencks; 14 Communists; two Army wives who had killed their husbands overseas; and labor organizer John T. Watkins, who had been found in contempt of Congress.

The court ruled against the government in each case, holding that some personal right had been violated and setting the convictions aside.

Warren, Black, Frankfurter and Douglas voted with the majority all four times. Three times they were joined by Harlan and Brennan. Harold H. Burton went with the majority once. Only Tom Clark dissented in all four cases.

All right, you may say. So the court has changed frequently. So these changes have brought protests from those who disagreed. So the present court seems increasingly conscious of personal rights. But that's history. Where do we go from here?

Only one prediction seems safe: In view of what happened last session, the court doesn't appear likely to switch directions soon on civil rights. And on the hottest issue of all, segregated public schools, the court spoke unanimously three years ago, and hasn't budged a syllable since.

Life Insurance Is Explained to Council

Insurance was the program theme of the Morgan County Home Ec. Club Council which met recently at the Versailles Court House. Estel DeVinna explained the various life insurance policies and stated that "Life insurance is a form of saving and security".

Mrs. Paul Johnson presented the following officers for election: vice president, Mrs. Doran Gerhart; secretary, Mrs. Roy Spaulding Jr., treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Hodges; song leader, Mrs. Stanley Palmer; pianist, Mrs. Ralph Day.

The president and reporter will be elected at a later date.

Mrs. Eva Boen of the state department of health, explained the polio immunization survey.

RED MILITARY STRENGTH—Estimates by U.S. authorities indicate that Russia and its satellites have some 4,468,000 men under arms. While the United States is conducting a sweeping face-lifting of its own 200,000-plus army in Europe for possible future atomic warfare, the Soviets have been making similar preparations. In addition to its huge force at home, Russia has 22 divisions in East Germany. These troops, equipped with atomic weapons, are at peak combat readiness and will be until a new training cycle starts in December, when new recruits are sent in annually to replace dischargees. Figures on Newsmap give breakdown by countries. Bulgaria's 13 divisions are considered by the Soviets as the most "trustworthy" of the satellite armies. Albania's three divisions are considered understrength. The situation in Hungary is confused due to last year's rebellion. The army deserted to the revolutionaries and the Soviets are trying to reorganize it. But it no longer can be considered an effective military force.

Actor Resumes Career After Blind Period

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What does an actor notice when he regains his sight after seven years?

Colors, mostly — "Everything is so full of color — the cars, the buildings, the furniture."

Also, his family ("They look wonderful"), his friends ("How old they've grown!") and himself ("Me, too!").

These are the reactions of Jason Robards, who is resuming his acting career after seven years of darkness. You'd remember his face — he was ong one of Hollywood's well-known character actors. If your memory goes back farther, you'd recall him as a star in the silents and the early talkies and on stage in the long-run "Lightnin.' "

One day in 1949, he left his valley home to drive to Hollywood. His vision was blurred, as if something gummy was covering his eyes. He dropped by his optometrist, thinking he might need new glasses.

"Save your money," the doctor told him. "You've got cataracts."

Robards' vision failed steadily and he soon began the seven years in which he could barely discern light and shadows.

What did he do?

"I learned a lot about people. You can really tell how people feel when you hear their voices and you don't see them cover up with their faces.

"I listened to radio and then to television. I learned a lot about acting, too. It amazed me to hear what actors were getting away with."

In January this year, Robards underwent an operation to remove the cataracts. His first vision: his doctor's sports coat.

"It was awful and I told him so," Robards smiled.

The actor saw his wife and daughter, who was 10 when he last viewed her. Then he went to New York to see his son, Jason Jr., a hit in the play "Long Day's Journey into Night."

Now he's back at his profession, playing an important role in one of the segments of Warner Brothers' "Sugar Foot" TV series. And, with his experience behind him, he expects to resume his career with new perception.

Hey There! John Raitt calls to Doris Day in Warner Bros'. filmization of the smash Broadway hit, "THE PAJAMA GAME," in Warner color. The George Abbott and Stanley Donen produced and directed film also stars Carol Haney, Eddie Foy Jr. and the cast of the original show. "The Pajama Game" starts today at the Uptown Theatre. Also included is a short subject, Pardon My Niteshirt and a color cartoon.

After overcoming superhuman difficulties, the guerilla Spanish army brings the big gun into range of Avila's fortress walls. Stanley Kramer's "The Pride and The Passion," filmed in Technicolor and Vistavision, will open today at the Fox Theatre, through United Artists release.

Use Surprise On TV Show

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television is about to receive the John Houseman "surprise" treatment.

"With surprise we hope to attract and hold a vast audience," says the executive producer of the big new "Seven Lively Arts' project which unveils over CBS-TV on Sunday, Nov. 3.

Houseman, a veteran showman of stage and screen making his first major sortie on TV with the hour series, regards himself as a "man of maverick, screwball production."

"One thing I know," he declares firmly, "our first show will cause an outburst."

The topic of the initial telecast is "Changing Ways of Love," a three-decade survey of romance in America. Humorist S. J. Perelman has written the script and Piper Laurie is to be the feminine lead.

Houseman feels that the magic ingredient in winning and holding fans in any entertainment medium is providig the unexpected. He stresses that the big word to him in the new enterprise is "lively."

Second Houseman program will concern the phenomenon of American jazz — "a great, huge jam session," he calls it.

After that will come a study of Hollywood's current world - wide film making craze, an intensive picture portrait of New York City in off guard moments, an examination of evangelism, and perhaps a program on sports greats.

The executive producer has been pursuing the lively in entertainment since he first began working with Orson Welles in the early Mercury Theater days. More recently he has been responsible for such films as "Julius Caesar" and "Lust for Life," and is midway through a three-year tenure as boss of the successful Shakespeare festival at Stratford Conn.

Famed London Theater Is Doomed Despite Film Actress

LONDON (AP)—St. James's Theater is coming down despite Vivien Leigh.

Huntington Hartford, an American millionaire and theater buff, offered 35,000 pounds ($98,000) and Sir Winston Churchill promised 500 pounds to save the venerable London playhouse whose site is earmarked for an office building.

But C. C. W .Glossop, chairman of the association that tried to save the St. James's, told a luncheon yesterday that those were the only two offers above 100 pounds —and to put the theater in shape would cost "considerably more than half a million pounds."

"It is naturally a bitter disappointment," said Miss Leigh, who paraded the London strets ringing a bell, made speeches and was ejected from the House of Lords for appealing from the visitors' gallery during a session.

"I cannot see this meeting end without saying thanks to my wife," said Sir Laurence Olivier, Britain's No. 1 actor and Miss Leigh's husband. "She was at the head of an extraordinarily gallant fight."

James A. Bland, composer of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," was born in Flushing, N. Y.

Announces Lodge Program On Membership

Announcement was made at the regular Tuesday evening meeting of Sedalia Lodge 1494, Loyal Order of Moose, that any member signing a prospective member may become eligible for a gift at the 1958 National Convention of one of 15 new Dodge cars, tax paid. This is a nation-wide program covering all of the more than 1,800 Lodges and members throughout the U.S.

Jim Reed, civic affairs chairman, informed the membership that a Hallowe'en party has been planned for all members children and their guests at the Moose Home in conjunction with the usual birthday and anniversary dinner, Oct. 31.

This party will be a part of a national program known as "Youth Honor Day", whereby the youth signs a pledge card as follows: "I pledge, on my honor, as a citizen of my community, not to deface, mutilate or destroy property or perform any act harmful to others during the Hallowe'en season."

The Modern Woodman of America, have made a sizable contribution of prizes and favors for the children at this party in Sedalia.

Announcement was made that the Women of the Moose are having a card party Oct. 14, 8 p.m. at the Moose home and everyone is welcome to attend.

Elction of Richard Burk as treasurer filled the vacancy in that office.

Ten delegates were elected to attend the Missouri State Moose Association convention at Moberly Nov. 1-3.

Evening Sorosis Discusses Project

Mrs. J. L. Washburn presided over the recent dinner-meeting of Evening Sorosis of Versailles which was held at the Christian Church.

The new project, the vaccination of all children and young persons under twenty years of age in the community, was discussed and plans made to carry out the program.

SOME SUB—With the Stars and Stripes flying from its stern, this somewhat odd-looking submarine taking part in operation "Deep Sea" surfaces in the Dardanelles. Crewmen topside on the sub watch a landing craft returning from the coast of Canakkale, opposite the Gallipoli peninsula in Turkey. The landing craft, as well as helicopters, which presumably landed on what appears to be the sub's flight deck, carried U.S. Marines ashore to aid Greek and Turkish troops already "engaged" in simulated combat. NATO forces are engaged in mock nuclear warfare.

Man Re-enters Business After Retiring at Age 37

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the story of a man who retired at 37 —and now, at 44, is supremely happy.

And here is Peter DeMet's formula for successful retirement: "After three months, go back to work—any kind of work!"

Pete, who is blue-eyed and stocky, has the easy-going air of a born salesman. He quit high school after his sophomore year to sell cosmetic supplies on the road. Shortly after he was old enough to vote he had his own chain of beauty parlors.

Then he piled up more money as a car dealer and in 1950, having piled up enough, he quit work forever—or so he thought. No ulcers for him, no living out of pill bottles. Just long pleasant years of fishing in the Florida sun.

"I thought I was young enough to retire and enjoy myself," he recalled. "But I had been working seven days a week, and couldn't stand the letdown. It made me jumpy.

"At the end of three weeks I was picking things off the floor that weren't there. At the end of four weeks I was counting dust specks on the furniture. At the end of three months I knew I had to find something to keep me busier or I'd go crazy."

Just to keep his mind occupied, DeMet bought a small Pontiac agency in Chicago—"all I really wanted was an office and a phone"—and built it into the world's largest.

From there one thing led to another. He became interested in bowling, and sank $300,000 into making "Championship Bowling, a series of 26 TV film shorts on the sport that mushroomed into a multimillion-dollar venture and led the industry to vote him bowling's "Man of the Year." He also has bought a $1,200,000 bowling alley in Coral Gables, Fla.

A friend came to ask his advice about some mining properties in Colorado. Today, somewhat to his own surprise, DeMet finds himself one of the country's major thorium producers.

"Here and there you get involved," he remarked. "You have to do something with your time."

Pete, against the advice of experts in the field, recently sank $400,000 into producing "All-star Golf," a series of 13 film shorts in which such golf greats as Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum and Jimmy Demaret will compete for prize money totaling $80,000. It will be shown on the ABC network.

DeMet who, in addition to all these enterprises, also is investing in Florida real estate, has an interesting business philosophy.

Here are the highlight:

"Put your money where your mouth is—and presumably your heart.

"If you believe in a thing, do it, no matter what other people tell you. If you're really honest, what else can you do anyway?

"Once you've put your money on the wheel, relax and quit worrying until you see where the ball stops.

"Sweat makes luck. The harder you work, the luckier you are."

Since retiring from retirement Pete has worked so hard he recently came down with nervous hives. But he feels he is fortunate in being so busy he doesn't have time to sit down and scratch.

"I still think it was an accomplishment to be able to retire at 37," he said. "Actually, in a way I still consider myself retired. I've just taken up business again as a hobby.

"Maybe I'll retire again when I'm older—say 48 or 49."

Mothers Use Whistles

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Passing motorists are being whistled at by pretty young matrons on McAllen street corners.

They're members of the David Crockett School "mothers patrol," and they're using the whistles like traffic patrolmen. The patrol was formed to see pupils across two busy intersections near the school.

Dr. R. A. Lindquist said the mothers will continue to whistle and take turns guiding children across the street morning and afternoon until the city can install traffic signals, promised in about six weeks.

Arator Club Meets With Mrs. Wallace

Mrs. Mary Wallace was hostess at the September meeting of the Arator Club. The meeting opened with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Games were played and refreshments served during the social hour.

Connie May and Janie Repper were guests.

The October meeting will be with Mrs. Ben Hardin.

Linda Turner Finds American Life Easier Than in Germany

Back home again Linda Turner, who spent several weeks in Germany as an American Field Service Student, is trying to catch her breath. She missed out a little on the start of school, everybody wants to know about her stay in Metting, Germany.

In the first place, although she would have liked staying a little longer, Linda came home feeling glad she was an American. Life here is a lot easier, she thinks, and she wonders if Americans really get as much out of life as they should.

Linda arrived in Metting at midnight and the next day was the Fourth of July, but it didn't seem like it, she said, because there was no celebration. After all, the Fourth of July meant nothing to those people, but it still meant a lot to Linda.

It was hot, so Linda's family where she made her home during the time went to the field at 3 o'clock in the morning so they wouldn't have to work in the hot sun during the afternoon. It was harvest time, too, and the family worked in the fields. Most of the farmers cut the wheat by hand, she said, but her family had more than the average family, so they had two tractors and a binder. They then stored the wheat in the barn for all winter and when they needed some money, they threshed the wheat and sold it. They had an old threshing machine, but, said Linda, it did the job.

Of course, that first day Linda didn't go to the fields to work with the family but later she did — just for a day or two. The family decided she got in the way more than she helped, so they told her to stay in the house. Growing up on a farm in Missouri, Linda was probably a better farmer than she pretended to be, but the farming was different, at least the woman's part in it. She wasn't used to going out and doing a man's job on the farm all the time, which was what the girls did there.

A typical day on the farm there, Linda said, was getting up and going to feed the cows at 5 o'clock in the morning. They had no fences and had to mow the hay for the cows. Then they came in for a cup of coffee, then they milked the cows after which they had another cup of coffee, and went out to the fields.

Linda found she had quite a job staying in the house when four fellows who were electricians stayed there two weeks. It meant 13 beds to make. Her biggest problem was changing the pillow cases. The pillows were so big she felt like she had been wrestling with a bear when she got through. She did the dish washing, too, which wasn't any little job with a family that big and she did the clothes washing. The washing is done by hand in a fashion new to Linda. They put the clothes on a piece of wood and take a brush to them. The only thing that she didn't have to do by hand was the wringing. There was some kind of machine that shirled the water out of the clothes.

The family would come in from the fields at 11 and go back at noon. They would then work until about 3 p.m. Linda and Johanna, 10, the youngest girl in the family, would fix bread, balogne and beer. They didn't drink water or milk and they thought she was crazy because she was always drinking water.

"I just couldn't cultivate a taste for beer", said Linda, for which, no doubt her American parents are very grateful.

Then they went to the fields again and stayed until about 7:30 or 8. Hedi, the oldest girl in the family would come in about 5:30 and milk the cows. On week days they had supper and coffee then went to bed. Metting, a town of about 200 people, was sound asleep by 9 o'clock.

The food they eat is mostly starches — noodles, gravy, potatoes and meat. They hardly ever had vegetables except cucumbers. When they did have vegetables they didn't have them with their dinner. They eat a lot of bread, she said, with sugar, chocolate and other things on it.

They use every part of the pig, and they use the feet and head of the duck to make gravy.

The people in her family, in Germany, Linda said, had a lot of misunderstandings about America. They thought everybody had two or three cars and thought you could still homestead here. Two of the boys in the family were planning on coming over and getting themselves a piece of land here, but Linda put them straight.

The country, she said, was so pretty, and the forest, which is mostly pine trees, with a few oaks, are kept trimmed. The stores are similar to ours, said Linda, but there is a store for bread, another for meat, and you buy vegetables in carts on the street. Wool clothing is cheap.

It was cold there, part of the time, and they had no heat in the bedrooms, and heated the living room with a wood stove. They also cooked with wood.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday they had dances. The teenagers, said Linda, were a lot like ours, only they had more responsibility. No teenagers drove cars. Among the boys she met was one with a motorcycle, which was fun except when it was raining and cold—there were three straight weeks of rain.

Education was a serious business there, and they were out of school at 15. The boys in her family went to a trade school. They had to have a training course even to be a clerk, said Linda.

The girls don't meet the boys, because they go to separate schools, until they go to dancing school. Everybody goes to dancing school, so they start going with boys much later, and the usual age of marriage is 25 years old.

The family Linda lived with was crazy about popcorn. In fact, the things they wanted Linda to send them were American cigarettes, coffee and popcorn. They have to grind their own coffee there. The thing Linda missed most was the American hamburger—but she was able to get one one day from the PX.

Hedi fell in love with all of Linda's clothes, and bought material and had some dresses made like hers.

There were no 4-H organizations there, Linda said.

She saw a big parade with floats like the Christmas parade here, and enjoyed the big tent where all the families would go together and sit for hours. They would eat, drink, sing and talk. Then there was the Folk Fest, which is something like the State Fair, with rides and a carnival and exhibits of farm machinery, and other exhibits like the Fair.

The schools last ten months, the are no sports. The young people are not as carefree as the Americans.

Linda thinks Hedi is coming over here for a visit one of these days and she hopes so — she wants to show her what America is like.

The people all want the unification of Germany and have a great fear of the Communists. The elections are different from here. Nothing can be printed in the paper about them until after they are over.

Linda wouldn't take anything for the memories of her trip and she is very grateful to the Sedalia Chapter, American Association of University Women, for the part they played in making it possible for her to go.

OVER HE GOES — George Zakrzewski and Charles Kraus demonstrated the art of self-defense to the students of Horace Mann school in Sedalia, Tuesday, with Zakrzewski taking the bumps.

Judo Team Shows How

Three hundred students of Sedalia's Horace Mann school saw the Whiteman Air Force Base judo team stage an exhibition in judo and self-defense Tuesday afternoon at the school auditorium.

S-Sgt. William D. Chapman, judo instructor and brown belt holder, staged an exhibition with his six-year-old son, Terry. Students saw Terry putting judo throws on his father to show that size is a minor factor in the sport of judo.

Green belt holders George Zakrzewski, Charles Kraus and John Duncan demonstrated the art of self-defense during the one-hour exhibition.

MU Extension Service To Hold Farm Forums At 4 Sites This Year

Farm leaders will be able to attend the Missouri College of Agriculture's Farm Forum at one of four different locations this year. Dean J. H. Longwell says the first of the four will be held in Columbia Oct. 30. The forum committee is presently completing plans for the other three and will announce the locations and dates within the next few days.

At the forum this year, farm leaders will take a new look at present farm problems. Longwell feels that many important changes may come about in farm legislation during the next few years. It's important, he says, that the farm leadership understand all angles of the present-farm situation if they're to make the best decisions.
